OUR DEDICATION

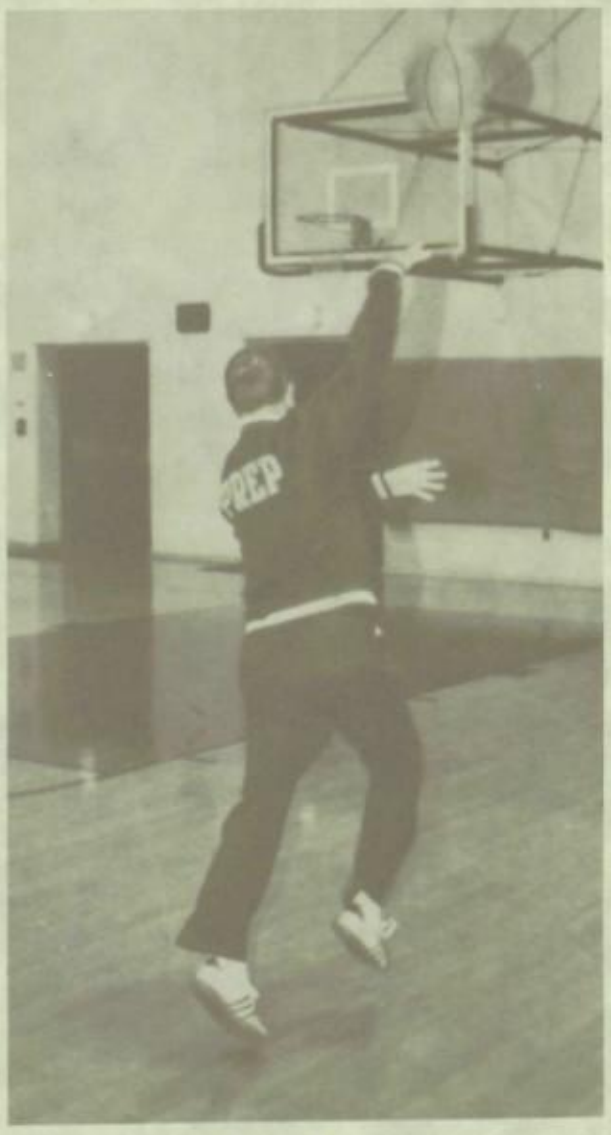
MR. WILLIAM A. MULLEN

In addition to respect for knowledge, one value which our years at the Prep have led us, the Class of 1981, to appreciate is that of sincerity. One person who personifies this quality is Mr. William A. Mullen.

Known affectionately as "Moon", Mr. Mullen has been on the Prep faculty for the past nineteen years. During this time, he has been a tireless supporter of the school and its principles. He has been an ardent fund raiser for the Prep as well as making other more quiet, yet truly generous, contributions to students' educations. Mr. Mullen has carried the banner of the school far, especially in the years during which he developed the Prep's vaunted marching band. He has further brought honor to the city, as the director of the country's largest parade on July 4, 1976. His untiring work as the Traveling Secretary and Entertainment Director for the Eagles and his years of military service further enhance the qualities of this true man.

Mr. Mullen's eloquence lies beyond words. His warm relationship with students, his loyalty to the Prep and to the country, his refreshing humor, his constant optimism, and his deeply Christian values are in themselves expressions of the ideals of Jesuit education.

We, the Class of 1981, are proud to dedicate our yearbook to this man, Mr. William A. Mullen, who has been an example to us, as to many before us, of the meaning of service to others.



HISTORY OF SAINT JOSEPH'S PREPARATORY SCHOOL
1851 - 1981

I. SAINT IGNATIUS OF LOYOLA

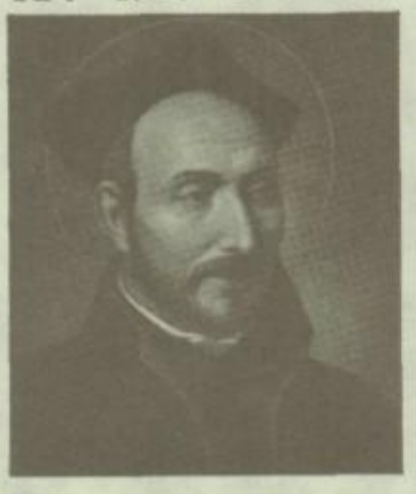
The traditions and ideals of the Prep have their origin in a soldier-priest of the sixteenth century. St. Ignatius of Loyola was born in the Basque province of Guipuzcoa in 1491. As a young man, he enjoyed the life of a soldier and a Spanish gentleman. As a result of this, he travelled to Navarre in 1517 to join the duke in defense of that region. Four years later, in 1521, Ignatius fell in battle at the citadel of Pamplona after being struck in the leg with a French cannon ball. He was captured by the French.

While recuperating from his injury, Ignatius began reading the life of Christ. Inspired by the nobility of Jesus and the saints, he started a pilgrimage to Jerusalem in March 1522, having recovered from his wound. On the way, Ignatius stopped in the small town of Manresa. Although he did not originally intend to stay long, he lived in the town for eleven months. There he began his Spiritual Exercises, a set of instructions in prayer, examination of conscience, decision-making, and meditation aimed at helping man find God's will. They allowed the reader to examine his life and his purpose in life.

In 1523, Ignatius again set out toward the Holy Land. Visioning more clearly, however, he realized that education and companions were required to execute his plans for God's greater glory. Thus, he devoted eleven years to study at Barcelona, Alcala, Salamanca, and Paris. In 1534, he finally earned a Master's Degree. He soon attracted a following of men who pronounced with him a set of common vows of poverty, chastity, and a vow to go to Palestine to serve the Pope. In Venice, in 1537, Ignatius and five of his followers were ordained priests. Ignatius then drew up a Formula instituti, which contained the fundamentals of the order they wished to found. After some hesitation, Pope Paul III gave formal approval to this new society, the Society of Jesus. The membership was limited to sixty, a limitation later removed, and Igantius was chosen the first general of the order.

Ignatius died in 1556 and was canonized in 1622. During his life, a new chapter had begun in the history of the Church. The Jesuits became an established society throughout the world. The Jesuits of today, the teachers of men, still follow the principles of Ignatius which lead them along the road to Christ.

A. M. D. G.



Prayer of St. Ignatius

Dearest Lord, teach me to be generous. Teach me to serve Thee as Thou deservest; to give and not to count the cost; to fight and not to heed the wounds; to toil and not to seek for rest; to labor and not to ask for any reward, save that of knowing that I do Thy will, O God.

Pray for us St. Ignatius

That we may be made worthy of the promises of Christ.

II. THE BEGINNINGS OF THE PREP

On May 15, 1733, Rev. Joseph Greaton, S.J., bought the property between Third and Fourth streets in Philadelphia at Willings Alley. There he built the first Catholic Church in the colonies. He named it St. Joseph's Church. For a long time this was the only place in the English speaking world where it was permitted to say Mass. During the American Revolution a classical academy was started on the site; between 1800 and 1833 it became a regular academic high school.

In 1841, the Jesuits reported that they wished to build a college in Philadelphia. Due to great immigrations of Irish and German Catholics, the number of Catholics had reached 100,000 in the state of Pennsylvania. Thus, in 1851, the founding was chartered by the state under the title "The St. Joseph's College In The City Of Philadelphia." The college and the high school would remain together under this name for over seventy-five years.

In 1851, the school began with a Mass at 8:00 A.M. and lasted until 5:00 P.M. There was a break between 11:30 A.M. and 2:00 P.M. Tuesdays and Thursdays were holidays, but Saturday was a regular class day. Students were required to go to Mass and Confession; they also had to follow a set of nine regulations concerning conduct and mannerliness. The school year began in early September and ran through the middle of July. Tuition was $12.50 per quarter for the classical and merchantile courses. Weekly certificates were given for good work and there was a monthly reading of marks. Awards were given at the end of each year.

The first annual retreat was held in the Student Chapel from November 10 to November 12, 1851. The first school organization was the Solidality of the Blessed Virgin Mary which was formed on December 8, 1851. In 1853, the Literary Circle and Philomenian Society were formed. They combined to produce the first school play, Regulus, in 1854.

In 1854-1855, an attempt was made to move the school to more spacious quarters. The Prep was relocated at Juniper and Filbert Streets. It remained there, however, for only five years. In 1860, due to financial difficulties, it was forced to move back to Willing's Alley. During this time, the College issued its first Bachelor of Arts degree to Constantine Lippe, '58. He was the only person to complete the seven year course and the only graduate until 1896.

At Willing's Alley, the school had become an academy, preserving the continuity of its charter. The standards were high, but the number of students dwindled. To give a boost to the school, the Jesuits again looked for a new location and in 1866, bought the tract of land encircled by Thompson, Stiles, 17th, and 18th Streets. A temporary church and residence was built on the site. The Church was later converted into a school building and construction was begun on a new church, the Gesu. It was consecrated with great ceremony in 1888. The old Church became the Stiles Street Building.

The College opened in 1889 with a Mass of the Holy Ghost. The course of studies remained seven years — three years of high school and four year of college. At this time, a Cadet Corps and a debating society were begun. In 1896, the College had its first graduating class of seven student.

III. THE GROWTH OF THE PREP

The turn of the century was marked by great changes at the Prep. Increasing enrollment demanded that the physical plant be expanded. Thus plans for a new wing were developed. A new building was dedicated February 24, 1900. It was a huge building with a gymnasium, an auditorium, science labs, and additional classrooms. At the same time, the old Stiles Street Building was completely renovated. However, changes did not only occur on the exterior of the Prep. The internal structure was also renovated. The high school course was lengthened to four years and a tuition was charged for the first time since 1889. Many new organizations appeared within the school as enrollment swelled to 288 students.

In 1910, the library contained over five thousand volumes. It was an important part of every student's education. Academics remained strong with Latin, Greek, and Religion at the core of the education program. Annual retreats and sodalities continued their religious activities. The Prep continued its tradition of excellence in studies and firm devotion to the Catholic faith. Among the new activities begun was a radio club. The Prep obtained its own wireless station which recieved messages from as far away as Cape Cod and Norfolk. Dramatic productions also excelled. Also flourishing was the Debating Society, changing its name to the Barbelin Debating Society in honor of the former Rector of the school, Father Barbelin.

Athletics at the Prep entered the new century strongly. The old Athletic Association was regrouped as many Prep teams became successful. The 1911 football team was considered to be the undisputed Catholic Champion of the East and the basketball and tennis teams prospered. Intramural basketball and bowling were begun in the first decade of the new century. However, the greatest feat of any St. Joe's team occured in 1912 when the baseball team defeated the World Champion Philadelphia Athletics by a score of 8-7. The baseball team also filled in for the Detroit Tigers when the professional team refused to play in support of Ty Cobb. The football team was also strengthened at this time. A tradition was begun in 1915 when the Prep played Roman Catholic High School on Thanksgiving Day. This series lasted until 1971.

Perhaps the most significant aspect of this era of growth in the history of the Prep was the developing individuality of the school. The crimson and gray colors were first used at this time. A school seal appeared in 1903 and a school song was written. By 1917, the Prep had become an institution separate from the College. It even developed its own institutions. The long tie between the college and high school was suddenly ending.

THE CHAPEL: Religious life was a very important part of the Prep education. Mass was obligatory.

Among the changes accompanying the separation of the college and high school was the shortening of the school day. It lasted from 9:00 A.M. to 2:30 P.M. Latin, Greek, English, and Math were the most important subjects, but science was entering into the academic structure. In 1918-1919, the Prep published its first Yearbook, the Prep Annual, and the first Chronicle, a book of literary works by the best of Prep writers. The first Prep band was formed but faded within two years. The football and basketball teams won championships while intramurals were reorganized for all four years.

St. Joseph's College physically moved away from the Prep in 1927. The new college was established on City Line Avenue. This gave the high school the opportunity to spread out. The same year the Prep placed first in the Maryland Province Examinations. The Prep also placed first in the Maryland Province Oratorical Contest. In 1926, a successful crew team was formed; but would wait until 1940 to be established on a permanent basis.

Between 1917 and 1927 some of the greats of Prep teaching first appeared on the scene. Men such as Dr. Joseph A. Mattern made their presence felt as great teachers, adding to the true greatness of the Prep. Both the Jesuits and the new lay teachers were dedicated men who put great value on the intellectual and moral growth of their students. An integral part of Prep tradition was establishing itself. St. Joseph's Prep was approaching a golden age of success.

IV. THE GOLDEN AGE OF THE PREP

The years between 1928 and 1940 can appropriately be called the Golden Age in Prep history. The religious, academic, and extracurricular life of the Prep progressed steadily throughout this glorious era.

The students' religious life was enhanced by Masses on the first Friday of each month and Confession every Friday before lunch. Members of the Sodalities also attended weekly Masses and hymn and rosary sessions in the Sodality Chapel. However, the retreat program played the major role in the religious life of the Prep. Students from all years were participants in the annual fall retreats. Such an introduction to religion was pervasive, for an average of forty graduates from each class entered the seminary.

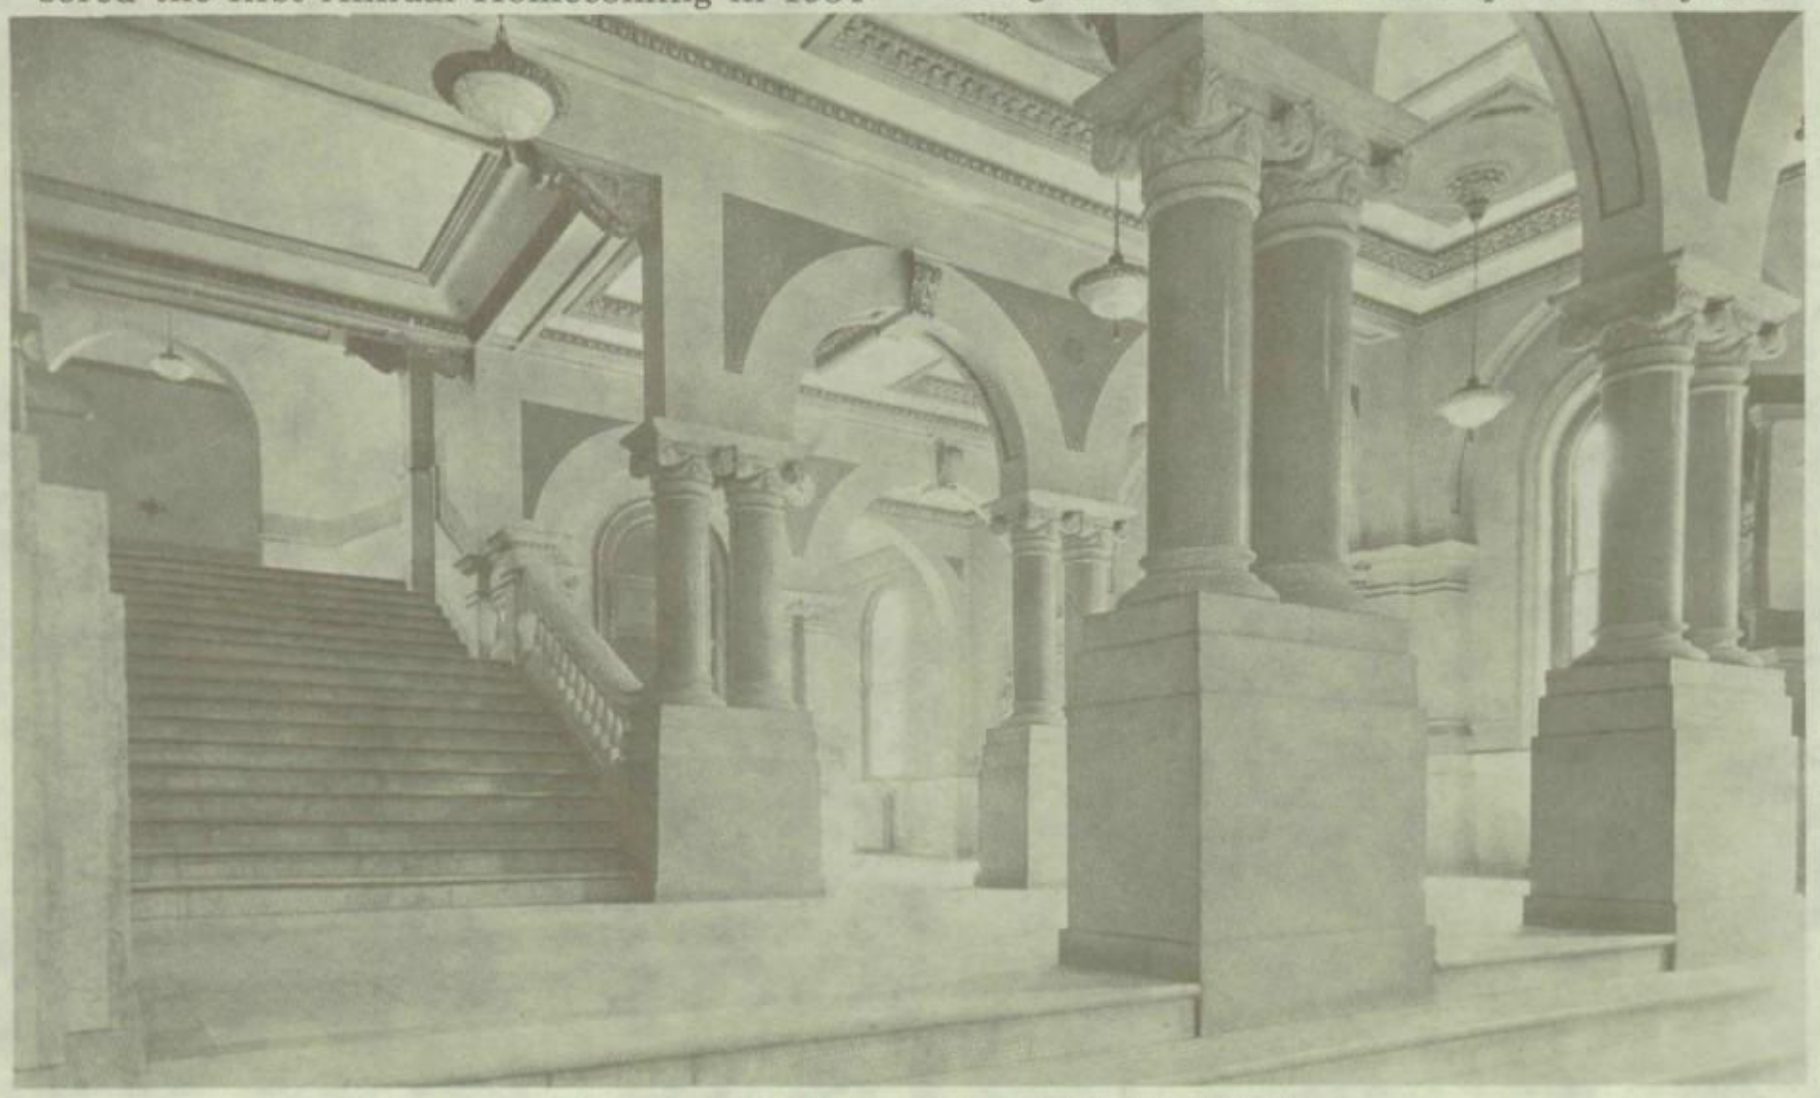
During the 1930's, the academic quality of the students improved and a greater percentage of graduates entered college. Prep students did consistently well on the province examinations, finishing first of ten Jesuit high schools in 1931. These academic distinctions did not go unnoticed in the city, for in the worst periods of the Great Depression, over 850 boys took the entrance examination each year, competing for the opportunity to attend St. Joseph's Prep at the cost of $150 per year. At this time, the first summer school program was started at the Prep.

The Prep continued to be more than an academic institution. An organization was begun to initiate a better understanding between the parents and faculty. The Students' Mothers' Club was formed in the mid thirties and sponsored the first Annual Homecoming in 1934-1935. In 1935, the Alumni Association was organized in order to manifest the spirit of the Prep and to promote its best interests. Extracurriculars within the school continued to achieve. The Barbelin Debating Team, the Cape and Sword Drama Society, and the Chronicle continued to flourish, bringing great honor in their respective fields.

In the 1930's, the school roster was changed. Interestingly, by lengthening the periods slightly during the week, Friday dismissal was at 12:15, at which time crowds of Preppers gathered in the school yard to join in a display of school spirit. In the Spring months, Friday afternoons were devoted to the weekly faculty-senior softball games.

Athletics were an important part of the Prep in the thirties. Early in the decade, a new gym with seating room for over a thousand people was built. A swimming pool was also constructed in the basement of the Prep. However, the greatest accomplishments of this era were attained by the immortal football team. Under the coaching efforts of Mr. "Ank" Scanlan, the football team put Prep athletics on a new and higher plateau. In his fourteen seasons as coach, the team won ninety-three games, six Catholic League Championships, two City Championships, and had four undefeated seasons.

Throughout the 1930's, the enrollment at the Prep increased. The school was recognized as one of the best in the area. To further add to the interest in the Prep, a spelling bee was instituted. Eighth graders who qualified came to the Prep for the annual contest. The winner was granted a full scholarship for four years.



The Prep's Grand Entrance - long a symbol of the Old Prep.

The 1940's ushered in a new period of growth for the Prep. The school remained a strong academic institution and maintained a high code of discipline. The religous life of the students was marked by the mandatory Confessions on Thursdays, Friday morning Masses, and school retreats.

In 1941, the office of President and Rector of the Prep was separated from the same office at the College. This showed the ever-increasing individuality of the Prep. At the same time, the Jesuit principle of working in unison with laymen was clearly demonstrated at the Prep. There were sixteen lay teachers at the Prep during the early 1940's, while there were few, if any, laymen teaching in the diocesan schools. It was during this time that two young men began their teaching careers at the Prep. Mr. Earl J. Hart and Mr. Nicholas W. Kueny ("Mister"), who later became trainer for the athletic teams, started as Mathematics teachers.

In 1943, a new library and labor management school was created at the Prep under the title "The St. Joseph's College Institute For Industrial Relations." The institute maintained a level of excellence "throughout" the years, gaining national recognition as a leader in its field. It would remain a part of the Prep until 1976, when it moved to St. Joseph's College.

In the 1940's, a school band was reinstituted. The proceeds of the 1940 Homecoming were devoted to the building of a band, and the buying of uniforms and equipment. Two hundred boys originally auditioned for the band, which was to perform at school functions and march at the football games. The fight song, "Swing Along With The Crimson", was written at this time and replaced all other past school songs.

The athletics program continued to be strong in the early 1940's. The football team won its last city title before 1977. The basketball team won the Catholic League title, the City title, and the Eastern State Catholic Championship. The tennis team won five consecutive Catholic League titles and the golf team was instituted, while the crew team reemerged strongly.

The Mothers' Club also altered its program during the 1940's, establishing a long lasting Prep tradition. The Annual Homecoming, which attracted great multitudes of Prep graduates, students, faculty members, parents, and supporters, was moved from the Prep buildings to the Bellevue Stratford Hotel in center city. Profits in excess of $12,000 were realized on this event. Another great fundraiser was begun at this time. The Gesu-Prep Social, bingo, became a popular staple. To date, it has grossed over three million dollars.

V. THE MATURING PREP

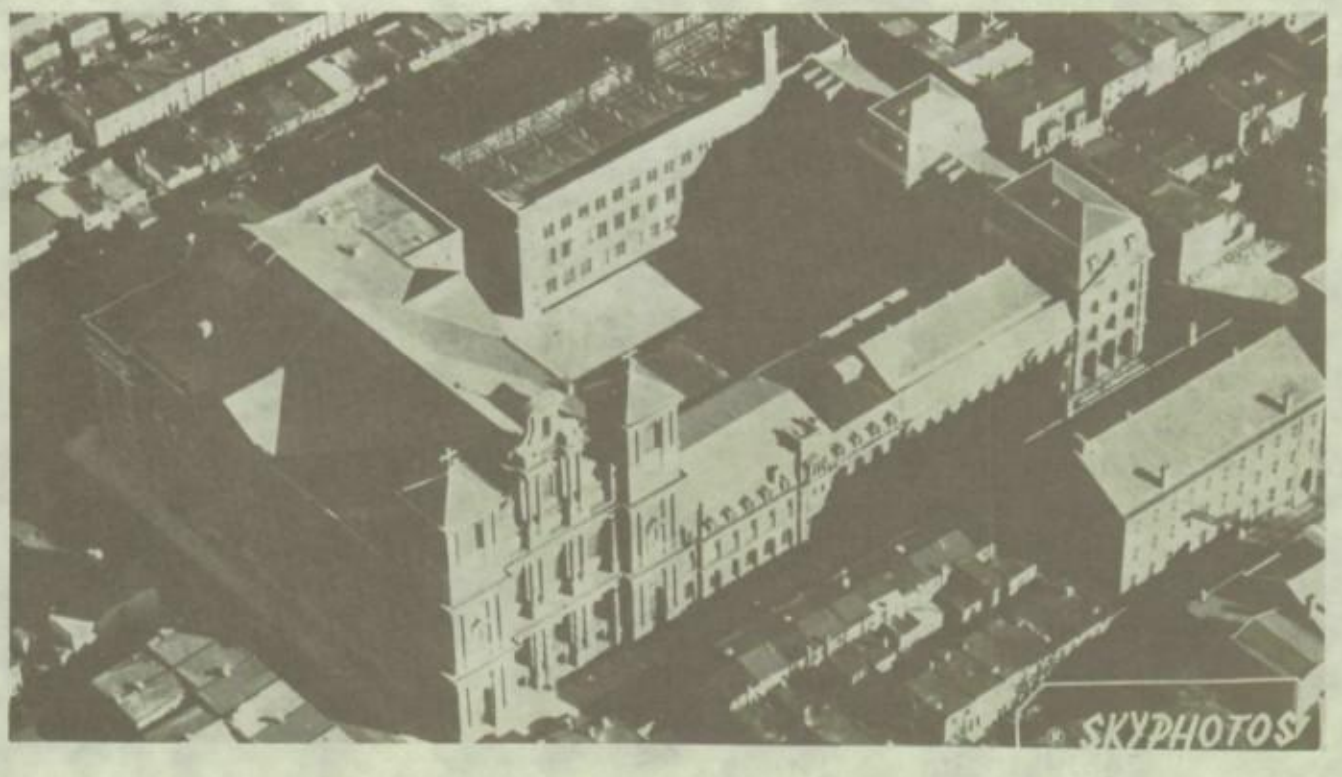
During the 1950's, Religion was intensified at the Prep. Students were eager to participate in the various religious functions of the Church. In addition to the annual Mass of the Holy Ghost, a weekly Mass on Friday mornings became a Prep custom. Though voluntary, over ninety percent of the student body attended the Masses. Sodalities and student retreats also continued their active roles in the full development of a Prep student.

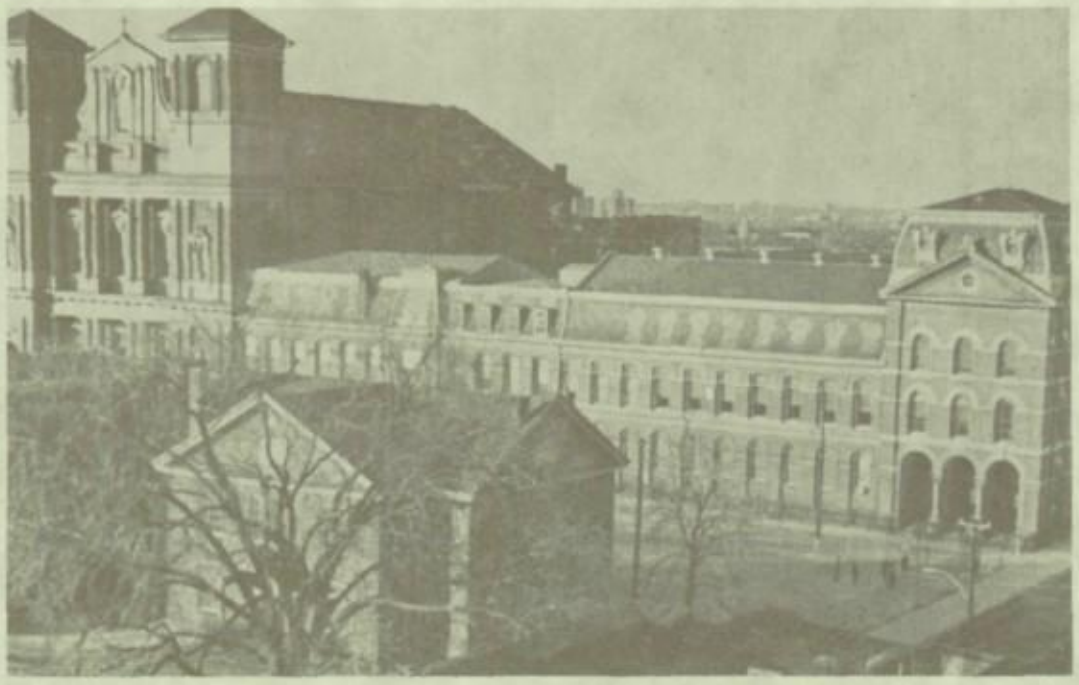
Many new clubs and organizations appeared for the first time in the 1950's. A French Club was started, the Radio Club was reinstituted, and various science clubs were begun. The Fathers' Club, the Mothers' Club, and the Alumni Association continued to be strong. The football team left the Catholic League after the 1955 season while Baseball was started afresh, joining the other Prep sports. The Crew team reappeared in 1954 and became an immediate success by winning the Catholic League Championship, the City Championship, and the Stotebury Cup in their first year.

The Prep was introduced to changes in the academic program in the 1960's. Religion was no longer considered a major course and was changed to a three day per cycle course. At the same time, AP courses and Honors Programs were added to the curriculum. The results of these programs were gratifying. In the National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Test, one of the Prep students attained the highest score of any student in the nation in 1960. Many other Prep students became finalists and semi-finalists in the Test. In the mid 1960's, the "Mattern Honor Society" was founded. It was named in honor of Dr. Joseph A. Mattern who had taught at the Prep for forty-four years.

Membership was granted to those upperclassmen who had attained high scholastic averages, had been of service to the Prep, and who had shown leadership in and out of class.

The tuition was raised to $450 in 1964, for the school planned to expand its physical plant and aid in the redevelopment of the neighborhood. The Prep was also rebuilding some of its previous strengths. The football team reentered the Catholic League in 1963 and won the Southern Division Championship.The basketball team and the crew team also won championships, showing the success of the Prep in yet another way.





. . . and in a flash it was gone. A lifetime of work, an age of prosperity, a home for a family were all wiped out in the flicker of an eye. In three hours, the once glorious Prep had been leveled to a pile of rubble.

VI. THE END OF AN ERA

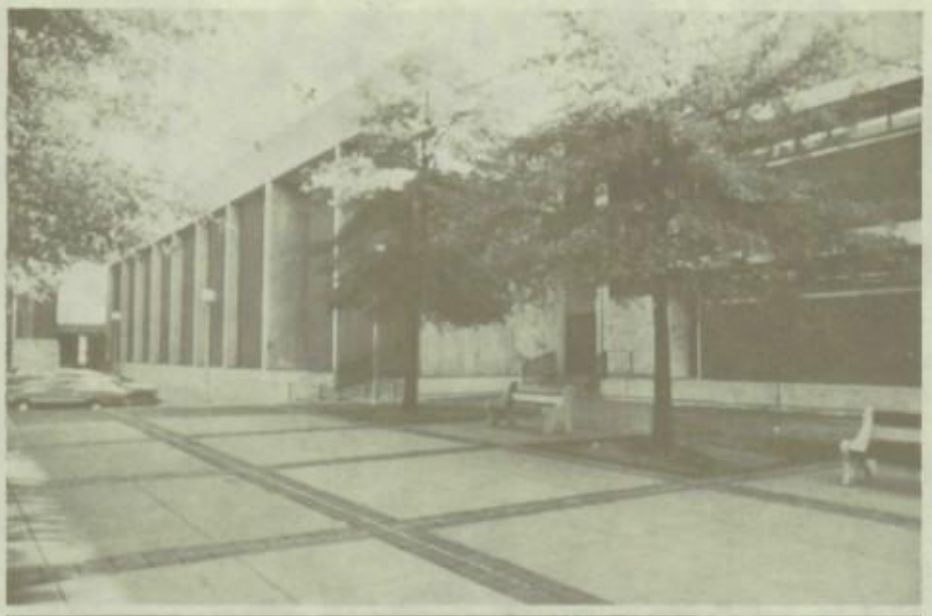
The Prep is not a building, it is a people. And it is the bond which holds this people together that is one of our greatest attributes. This bond was put to the test on a chilly Sunday morning, January 30th, 1966. At 5:30 A.M., sirens wailed above the whipping winds as a fire blazed up from the basement and through the Industrial Relations Library. Firemen came down a snow-blanketed Thompson Street while the Prep burned among two and three foot deep snow drifts. Initially, they battled a small fire for ten minutes and left when the smoke had subsided and the blaze had apparently been extinguished. They had to return, though, in less than one half hour, when the flames burst forth again, this time from the ceiling of the Industrial Relations Library. After fighting the eight-alarm fire for three hours the firemen were able to bring the raging blaze under control.

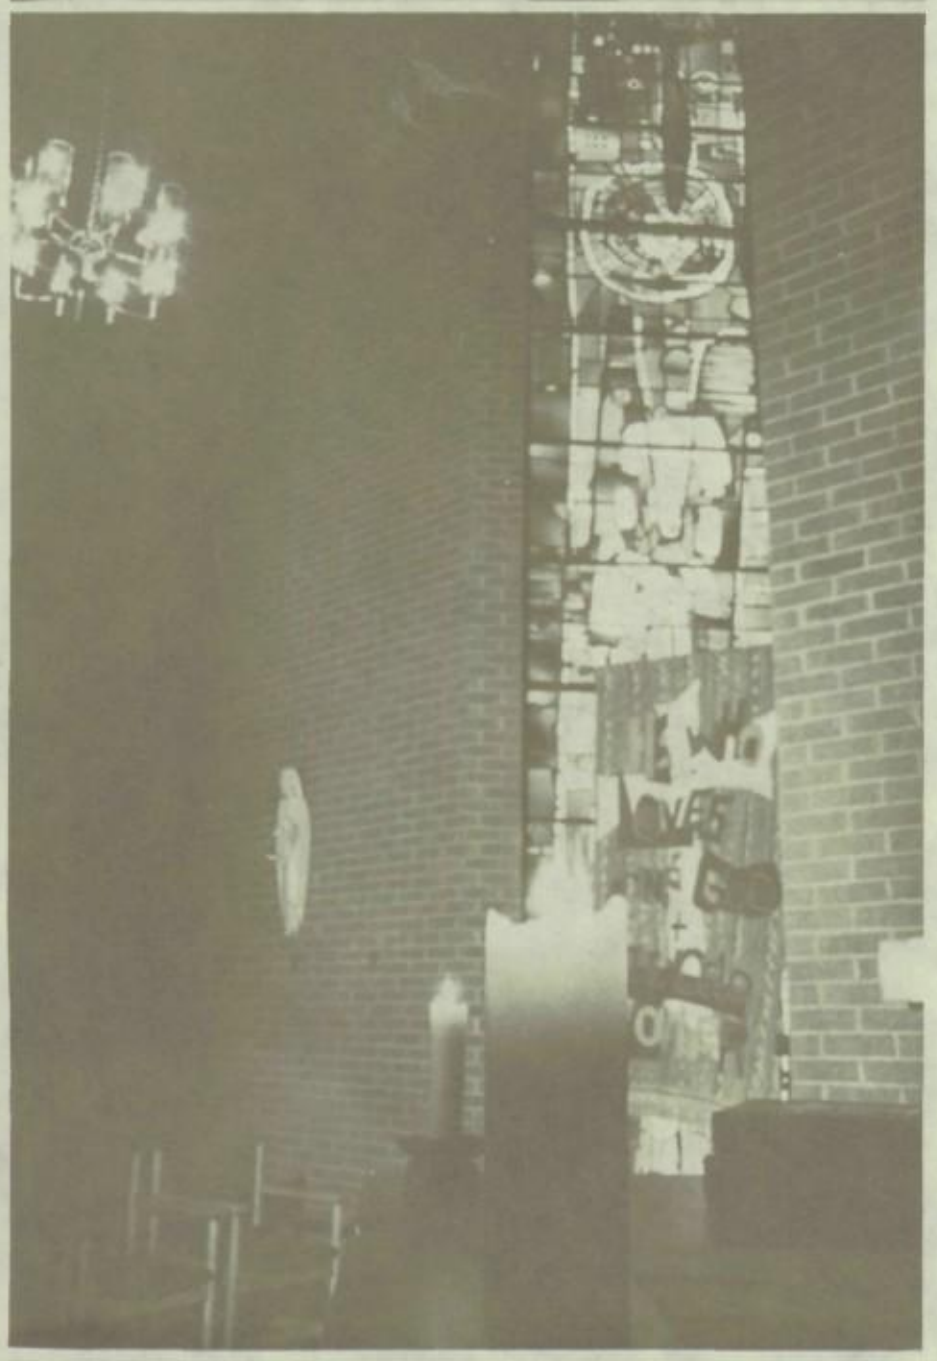
The Gesu Church and its valuable art treasures were saved due to the heroic efforts of the Fire Department and the quick action of Father Rector Hak and the Principal, Father Ayd, who devised an immediate plan for salvaging as much as possible of the Prep buildings. However, two-thirds of Saint Joseph's Prep lay in ruin as crumbling walls and frozen puddles of water used to fight the fire were all that remained of what had been the home of the premier institution in the Mayland Province.

Damage to the old buildings was estimated at over ten million dollars including the loss of irreplaceable books, records, and documents valued at five million dollars. Classes resumed one week later, after all available space was converted to class use. Classes were re-scheduled and rosters were altered so that the Prep's academic standards would remain intact. Despite great losses at all levels, the Prep would continue, the Prep would rebuild, and the Hawk would never die.

"Broken, empty windows in the ruins of the Stiles Street building stare out blankly. The coating of frost and ice gives the building an eerie, almost ghostlike, appearance."
THE HAWKLET
March 3, 1966

And from the rubble of the old . . .





VII. THE NEW PREP

"St. Joseph's Preparatory School is an American Jesuit institution dedicated to the pursuit of excellence in education in a modern metropolis which does not recognize ivy-covered walls of stone . . . Because the Prep is a Jesuit center of learning, the building in which it functions must be viewed as Catholic,religious without being pious. More than that, it must reflect the image of classical humanism as adapted to the contemporary scene; it must speak of modern times as well as the golden ages of Greece and Rome . . . The interior and exterior must say as clearly as possible that this is a place where students are formed . . . It must bespeak the timeless man . . . Students are most important. Since they are males, there should be a masculine quality about the building . . . The building should bespeak simplicity, warmth, culture . . . The Prep must be a place that can be loved."

REV. JOSEPH D. AYD, S.J.
Statement to Architects

Ground for the new Prep building was broken on May 29, 1967, as Prep supporters stood in attendance. The architectural firm of Nolen and Swineburne was the chief contractor for the project. Following the instructions of Fr. Ayd, the Principal, they had designed the New Prep, which would house an auditorium, a gymnasium, a theater, a modern library, and a swimming pool.

Three years after the infamous blaze, on December 8, 1968, John Cardinal Krol celebrated a Mass in the new auditorium. With the dedication of the new building, a modern era was begun in the history of the Prep. The New Prep was designed to aid in the functional and efficient process of education while preserving the age-old traditions of a great school.

The physical plant of the New Prep consists of one air-conditioned building divided into two sections. The southern portion consists of three stories, the first two of which are devoted to classrooms and offices. The third floor is occupied by the science laboratories and lecture rooms. The northern half of the building includes the non-academic facilities, with exception of one double-size lecture room. The pool, the gymnasium, the auditorium, the cafeteria, and the faculty lounge (previously the student lounge) occupy this portion of the building. The two sections of the New Prep are divided by a central foyer. A spacious and beautiful library is located in the center of the academic wing. The carpeted classrooms, the spacious hallways, the gallery area, and the central foyer exhibit the culture of a modern society without eliminating the classical elements and attitudes of the Prep community. The blending of two worlds, the old and the new, is best expressed by the modern chapel adjacent to the foyer. The Prep lives in the world of today, but will never forget the roots from which it evolved.

VIII. THE MODERN ERA

The late sixties and early seventies were a time of change throughout the country. The changing attitudes of society were reflected in the academic and religious life of the Prep. Not only did the entire community have to adapt to the new and different Prep building, but it had to survive in a world full of turmoil and strife.

Foremost of the changes in the academic structure was the deemphasis of the classics. Latin was made optional in Senior year and later was also made optional in Junior year. Greek was no longer mandatory, and other requirements were reduced. Seniors had only two mandatory courses and four electives. The attitudes of the students were reflective of the times. Not only had the Prep changed its physical appearance, but the physical appearance and views of its students had changed.

In 1973, the Office of Chaplain was started at the Prep. The position was needed to help increase the religious life and education of the students. Later in the seventies, a Social Service Program was begun in the same interests. The religious program was gradually expanded and developed its fundamental courses in theology, sexuality, and social justice to meet the moral views of today.

In the late seventies, a gradual rebuilding of the former policies of academics was begun. Latin was again made mandatory in Junior year. In addition, the Mathematics, Modern Language, and Social Studies Departments added one year to the required courses for graduation. As the strength of academics returned, the Prep athletic teams also flourished. In 1977, the Football Team won the city championship amidst great enthusiastic support from the student body, who marched on City Hall to celebrate the victory. In 1980, the Bowling Team took the city title and the Crew Team won the Catholic, City, and National Championships, advancing to the Henely Regatta in England. The Soccer Team won its 100th game and took the Southern Division title the same year.

Throughout the history of the Prep, one word stands out more than any other - success. St. Joseph's Prep, following the ideals of St. Ignatius, has produced dedicated men who live their lives in service of their fellow man. Students are made to realize their full potential as men and to develop a mature, Christian attitude. The Prep makes men out of boys. The Prep offers them a home and a family. The Prep offers them a life.

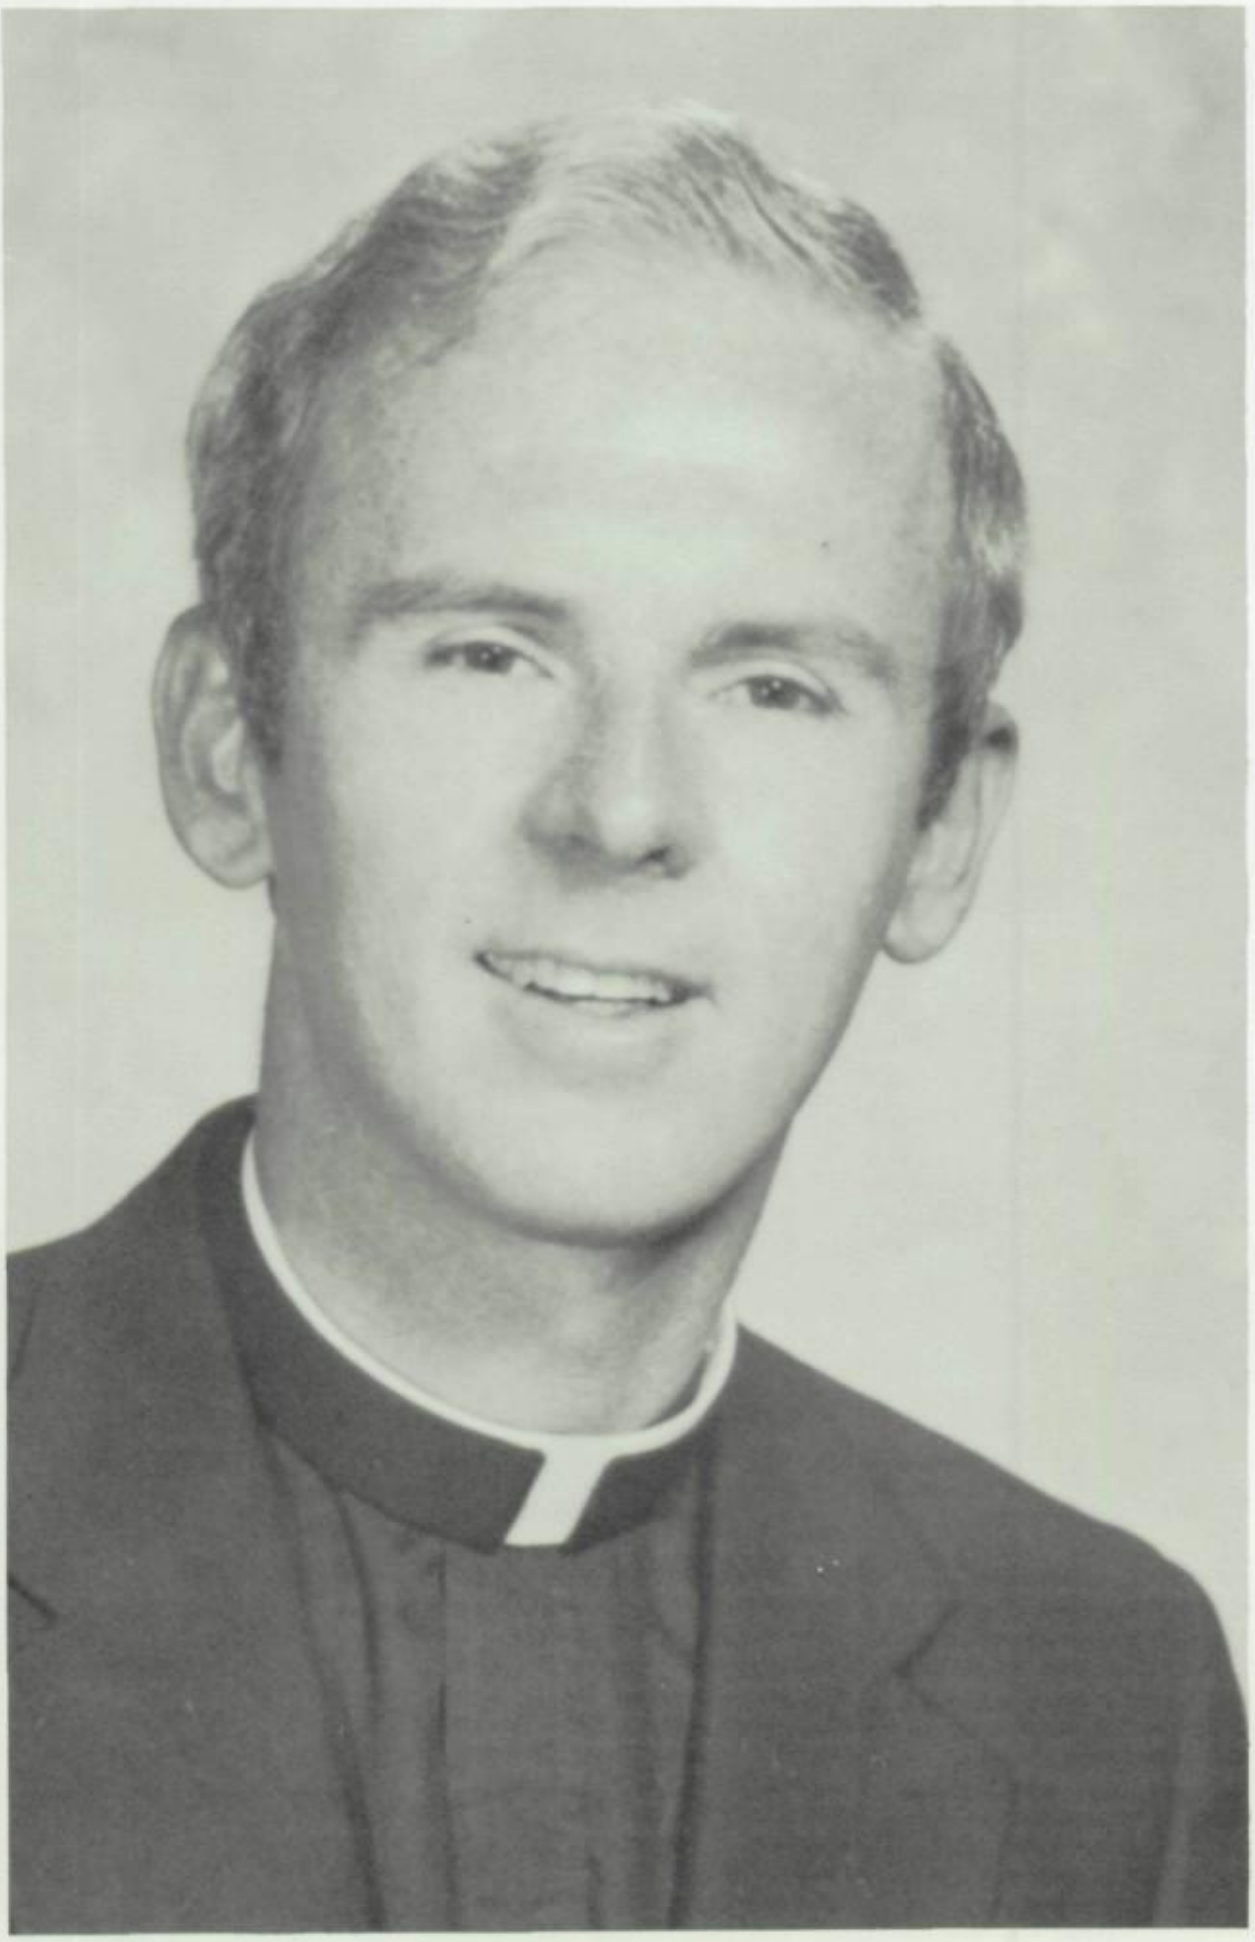
The Board of Trustees, the primary governing body and legal representative of St. Joseph's Prep, is deeply involved in the school and dedicated to perpetuating the ideals of Jesuit education. It comprises members of the Society of Jesus, alumni of the Prep, the parents of students, and dedicated individuals whose lives are given to the service of others. These people contribute their time, talent, and vast experience to further the present interests and future goals of the Prep. The Board of Trustees determines the major financial and academic policies in its effort to maintain the quality of Jesuit education at the Prep.

The Board is headed by Rev. Alfred J. Jolson, S.J., who has shown great concern for the Prep community. He is assisted by Vice-Chairman Quentin C. Sturm. This year the Board elected its first woman member, Mary Berko, a past president and a longtime, devoted member of the Mother's Club. The faculty is represented by Mr. Francis J. DeHoratius and Rev. Anthony S. McHale, S.J. Rev. Milton E. Jordan, S.J., as president of St. Joseph's Prep represents the administration.

Jesuits must be in the majority on the Board of Trustees. This year the Board has 21 members, 11 of whom are Jesuits. They work throughout the year to improve The Jesuit High School of Philadelphia.

PRESIDENT



REV. MILTON E. JORDAN, S.J.

"There is nothing more difficult to take in hand, more perilous to conduct, or more uncertain in its success, than to take the lead in the introduction of a new order of things . . ."
— MACHIAVELLI

When the Class of 1981 made its entrance into the Prep family four years ago, another face also appeared upon the scene. Rev. Milton Jordan, S.J., our new President, faced both a committment to the traditions of a great school and a challenge of new horizons.

Over these past four years, Father Jordan has fared well in his quests and accomplishments. Under his able administration, the revamping of the academic program has bolstered the classic approach to education while new avenues of learning have been introduced. Just as the school has taken on a new look with its freshly painted walls, so too has this new freshness permeated the entire Prep community.

Having studied the Jesuit educational system throughout the country in great depth, Father Jordan has contributed much in creating new dimensions in academics, communications, and fund raising, while perserving the Prep tradition of excellence.

Now, as Father Jordan leaves the Prep with us, the Class of 1981 salutes him and welcomes him as one of its members.

ADMINISTRATION

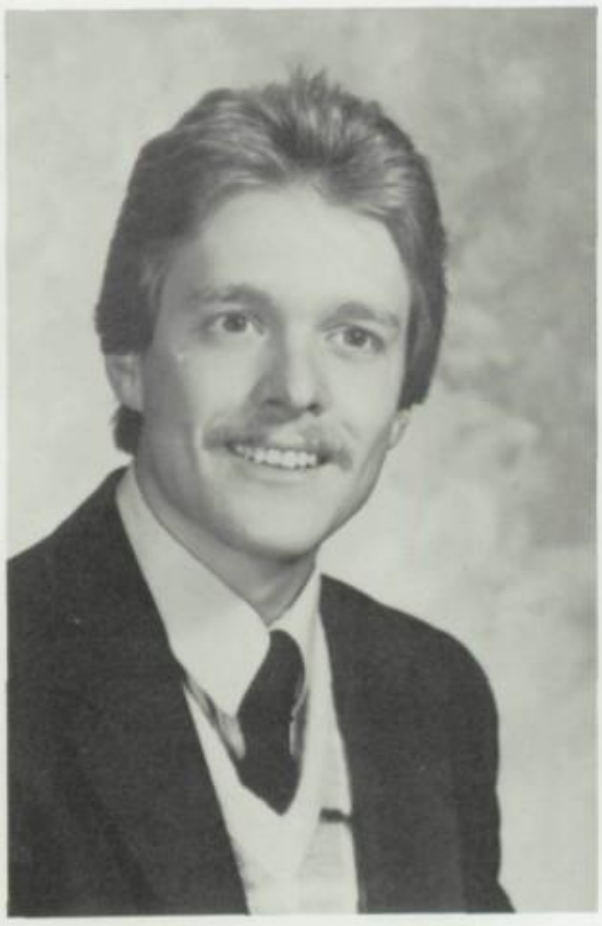
To understand the meaning of service, one needs only to look at the example set by Mr. Brennan during his twenty years as a Prep coach, counselor, teacher, and administrator. As Dean of Studies, he has initiated many changes and is responsible for a needed revitalization of the curriculum. His openness, gentlemanly manner, and interest in students have gained him the recognition and friendship of the Prep community.

Mr. Daniel A. Brennan
Dean of Academic Studies

In his second year as Disciplinarian, Mr. Pauzano has manifested a dedication to his work and has earned the appreciation of both students and faculty. He has maintained the conduct and code of behavior which is indicative of the quality of a school such as the Prep. The efficiency of his work and his enthusiasm have reinforced our respect for him.

Mr. Albert Pauzano
Assistant Dean for Student Affairs

Mr. Albert Zimmerman
Registrar



No one at the Prep is unaware of the demanding workload of Mr. Zimmerman. To him falls the dubious honor of scheduling class periods for over nine hundred students and correcting conflicts as they arise. His easy-going nature, close relationships with students, and ability to successfully juggle rosters help him continue with the spirit that was instilled in him several years ago when he was a Prep student.

Mrs. Artdthe Reilly
Treasurer

Mrs. Reilly has one of the most unheralded posts at the Prep. Many students sometimes forget the large part she plays in the daily running of the school. Each year, she is responsible for the revenues from tuition and fund-raisers as well as expenses for maintaining school functions. Although not often as visible as the other administrators, the competency in which she handles her job is commendable.

ALUMNI ASSOCIATION

Mr. Bernard E. Kueny '53
Moderator

THE OFFICERS: (left to right) Vice-President Francis J. DeHoratius '63, Secretary Edmond J. Murray '34, President Earl J. Simmons '50, Treasurer Bernard A. Scally '48, Immediate Past President Henry R. Adamczyk '53.

Under the direction of Mr. Gus Kueny, the Alumni Moderator, the Alumni Association has become an integral part of the Prep. They are very active in furthering the educational, religious, athletic, and especially charitable interests of the Prep community. Both officers and class representatives give unsparingly of their time and effort in an attempt to keep the Prep tradition strong. We acknowledge and thank the Alumni for their continued loyalty and support, and look forward to joining them in the ranks of the St. Joseph's Prep Alumni.

CLASSICS

Mr. Charles J. Kling, M.A.
Latin

A member of the class of 1961, Mr. Kling joined the Prep's faculty in 1967. He is now chairman of the Classics Department and helps to moderate dramatics. His teaching adds to the educational experience at the Prep, and his wit contributes to the atmosphere of the school.

"I consider myself to be among the most fortunate of people, since I am an active participant in the human endeavor which I consider to be non-pareil — education."

Mr. Henry Bender, M.A.
Latin, Greek

Mr. Bender has the two-fold job of teaching his students the ancient classics and presenting their relationship to today's modern world. He is a great influence on all of his students, both in the classroom as a teacher or in Italy as director of The Summer Classical Program.

"Teaching at the Prep represents to me an opportunity to contribute in the formation of young men."

Mr. Edmund A. Scanlan, M. Ed.
Latin, Comm. Skills

Mr. Scanlan has shown himself to be dedicated to his profession with a love for the Prep and a keen interest in the success of all his students. He is Assistant Athletic Director and works in the Pre-Prep Program.

"The Prep is an open forum where the young and the old alike gather each day to share each other's wisdom, to discover each other's worth, and to touch each other's hearts with a stroke of human kindness and dignity."

Rev. Joseph M. Alminde, S.J., M.A.
Latin

Father Alminde is a man who reaches many Preppers in one way or another. He can be seen after school cheering for his homeroom's intramural team and during the day he instructs freshmen in Latin. Father is also a counselor and moderator of the basketball team. But aside from these activities, he finds time to talk to anyone who needs some encouragement or help and tries to be of service to them.

"Just great!!!"

Rev. John T. Kelly, S.J., M.A., M.Div.
Latin

In his three years at the Prep, Father Kelly has taught Latin to freshmen and sophomores and is presently the moderator of the Senior Prom and the swimming team. In addition, he is an important figure for those seeking to attend college as a senior counselor. His purpose at this post is to assist students in making the first major decision of their lives.

"Making a decision involves a process and I try to aid my students in this process, not make the decision for him."

Mr. Vito Trimarco, Cand., Ph.D.
Latin, French

Mr. Trimarco, a Prep alumnus, returned two years ago and has already contributed much to the school. While not teaching his many classes, he is moderator of the chess and debate teams.

"Each student should be forced at least once in his education to think."

ENGLISH

Mr. Joseph T. Griffin, M.S.
AP English

Mr. English, chairman of the English Department continues to motivate the intellectual curiosity of his students through an interesting and thorough critical analysis of literature. He continues to challenge his students by providing knowledge and wisdom to all those who show interest and appreciation toward literature. This is his 13th year.

Mr. Paul B. Grillo, M.A.
AP English

Mr. Grillo joined the Prep's faculty in 1979. An alumnus from the class of 1961, he teaches English and moderates Dramatics. Already he has added much to life at Prep.

"I guess I've always been shadowed by the Jesuit idea of service through excellence."

Mr. Jerome J. Bennett, A.B.
English

Mr. Bennett exemplifies what it means to be dedicated. Besides teaching English, he has sold tickets at Prep Football games, run the SAT testing program and taught in the Pre-Prep program since its beginning. His deep involvement in the Prep is reflected in the pride he feels when a Prepper makes it through the long 4 years.

Mr. James C. O'Brien, M.A.
English, Comm. Skills

Mr. O'Brien besides being a fine English teacher, is also very active outside the classroom. He helps with the Gesu tutoring, organizes the Prep's theatre parties and referees Intramural games. His claim to fame at the Prep however, is being moderator of the Chronicle Literary Magazine, in which he takes great pride.

Miss Mary Ann Breslin, M.A.
English, Comm. Skills

In her twelth year at the Prep, Miss Breslin challenges her students to learn the rules of English Grammar and introduces English Literature to them. She also strives to instruct her students in the Prep tradition that transcends academics, a tradition of kindness, dignity and manliness.

Rev. Gerald V. O'Connor, S.J., M.A., M.Div.
English, Religion

Father O'Connor works through class discussion to get his students to think about ideas and question their validity. He wants his students to think about and live Christian values. He also moderates, this year, the Hawklet.

"I have very much enjoyed working with the great variety of students at the Prep."

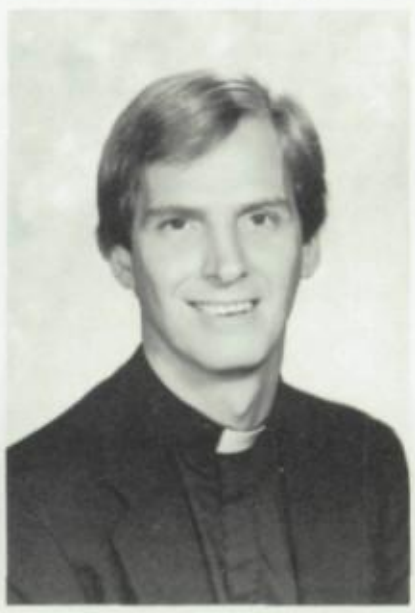
Mr. Paul K. Kania, S.T.M.
English, Religion

Mr. Kania is a man dedicated to the Prep and the Jesuit ideals. He makes his classes more interesting by sometimes diverging from class material to discuss interesting contemporary problems. Mr. Kania is a member of the group that sings at the Prep Mass.

"Students, spirit, commitments, responsiveness, responsibility, value - the hallmarks of the Prep."

Mr. Martin F. Blair, S.J.; A.B.
English

In his first year at the Prep, Mr. Blair has already become involved in the life of the school. He teaches English, is the Homeroom teacher for 1-F and moderator of the cross-country team.



HEALTH & FINE ARTS

Mr. William A. Mullen, B.S.
Health, Physical Ed.

It has been a long time since a freshman has come to St. Joseph's Prep and not experienced Mr. Mullen's good-humored nature. He teaches health and physical education to all freshmen, truly a heavy schedule for anyone.

"After teaching at West Catholic for 19 years, I never though I could love any school like West. That condition changed soon after a year or so here at St. Joseph's and my admiration and respect for the students and faculty has increased as the years go by."

Mr. Robert Hall, B. Mus.
Fine Arts, Music

Mr. Hall in his first year has worked to continue the great tradition of the Prep band. He is hoping to increase interest in the band and the type of music which it plays. He is a welcome addition, and seems to be glad to be here.

In the words of George Gershwin "'S Wonderful, 'S Marvelous . . . " (or was that Ira Gershwin)

Mr. Gregg A. Packer, B.F.A.
Studio Art

Mr. Packer teaches Studio Art to freshmen and the Art Elective to upperclassmen. He works with the Boosters and is moderator of the Prep Art Club. He hopes to develop an appreciation for art and culture.

"I teach with the hope that Prep graduates will respect the creative endeavors of others, as well as value the creative potential within themselves."

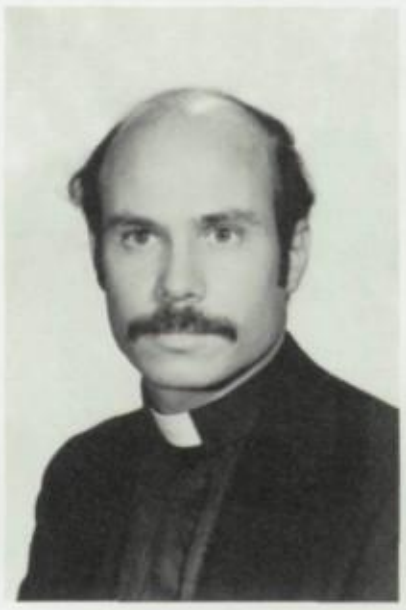
Mrs. Wendy H. Robbins, B.A., M.A., M.S.L.S.
Library Science

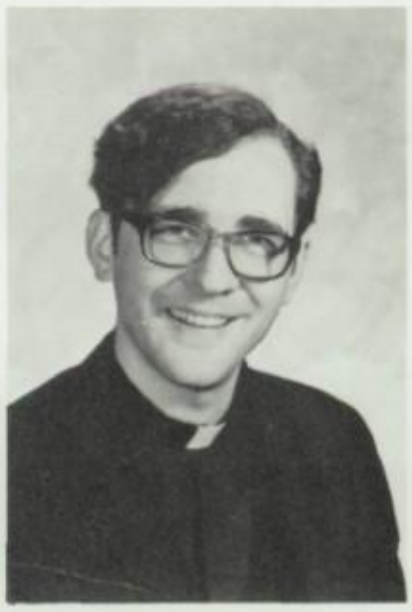
Mrs. Robbins is the person students turn to for help in preparing a report or term paper. Her knowledge and skills have aided many. Beside this, she is the moderator of the Library Club and the A-V Club.

"Teaching at the Prep is exciting and challenging. I enjoy being part of a team which works to stimulate young minds and to promote a love of learning."

CHRISTIAN SERVICE PROGRAM

For the past three years Father James R. Conroy, S.J. (left) and Father R. Bruce Bavinger, S.J. (right) have worked together on the Christian Service Program. Together they strive to make the program a rewarding experience for both the Prep community and the surrounding neighborhood. Their goal is to narrow and eventually bridge the gap between Prep and surroundings.





MATHEMATICS

Mr. James P. Murray, M.A.
Math

Mr. Murray is one man who contributes to the Prep at almost every level. He is a fine math teacher and the Chairman of the Mathematics Department. As the Director of Athletics and the head soccer coach, he enthusiastically supports the school's sports teams. He is coach, teacher, and chairman all wrapped up in one person.

Mr. Earl J. Hart, M.A.
Calculus

Mr. Hart, along with being a mathematical genius, is appreciated for his ease with the students. He is a veteran math teacher with 38 years of experience at the Prep. His humor contributes to the atmosphere of the class.

"I've been teaching here 38 years, I think I'll stay!"

Rev. Michael D. French, S.J., M.A., M.Div.
Math

Father French leads an active life at the Prep. Now in his 5th year here at the Prep, he teaches Math and counsels freshmen. He is also the moderator of the football team. He can be seen at every game energetically shouting encouragement to the players. Father believes that the reason for his spirit and the spirit of the students is the inheritance of a unique, long tradition of pride.

Mr. Bernard E. Kueny, M.A.
Calculus

Mr. Kueny is both a teacher and the Executive Administrative Assistant. He works closely with the alumni of the school, enlisting their aid and vast experience. He feels that the students of today are more willing to get involved in their school, and does not, as an administrator see a decline in school spirit.

Mr. John J. Dugan, B.S.
Math

Mr. Dugan is a long-time member of the Prep faculty. He has been teaching here at the Prep for 25 years, during which he taught many of the present members of the Prep faculty. His devotion to his students shows through both in the classroom and in his work as coach of the bowling team which won the City Championship last year.

Mr. Michael J. Cunningham, B.S.
Math

Mr. Cunningham, a member of the class of 1965, today teaches four different math courses (Geometry, Trigonometry, Analytical Geometry, and Selected Topics). He is the moderator of the Golf Team and the Junior Prom, and also the Chairman of the Faculty.

Mr. Nicholas W. Kueny, B.S.
Math

Mister Kueny teaches freshman algebra and has a freshman homeroom, 1C. Perhaps he is best known as the man who keeps our athletes in shape. He is the school trainer and a contributor to the Prep Spirit.

Rev. John J. Martinez, S.J., M.A.
Math

Father Martinez is now in his third year here at the Prep. He is the homeroom teacher for 1H and teaches Algebra I to freshmen, a sometimes difficult but very important job.

MODERN LANGUAGE

Mr. Michael J. Masko, M.A.
German

The challenging atmosphere of Mr. Masko's classroom motivates his students to learn the German language. He is meerator of the German Club and has for the past five years organized the German Exchange which has given Prep students the opportunity to see and use what they have learned.

"Klasse! Sagenhaft! Spitze! Toll! Wunderbar!"

Mr. Fernando Mendez, Cand., Ph.D.
Spanish

Mr. Mendez is a talented language teacher who teaches junior and senior Spanish. He is the coach of the J.V. Soccer team and moderator of the Spanish Club. Mr. Mendez also organizes trip to Mexico and Spain.

"I am not getting older. I am getting better ... or perhaps, just wiser ... and enjoying it more."

Mr. Francis J. Raffa, M.Ed.
French, Spanish

In just three years at the Prep Mr. Raffa has already done much for the students of the school. Inside the classroom he is both a French and Spanish teacher. After school he is the moderator of the French Club and the Forensics Club. This year he also became moderator of SAT testing.

"The hardest job I've ever loved."

Ms. Helena Kilz, Cand., Ph.D.
French, German

In her second year here, Ms. Kilz introduces sophomores to the challenges of a foreign language. She teaches both French and German, making her a versatile member of the language department.

"Interesting, challenging, and a rewarding experience."

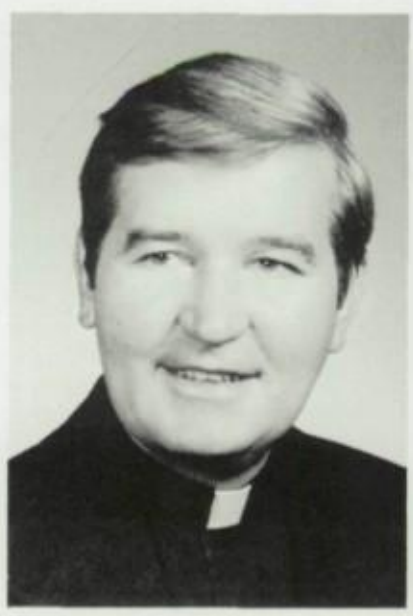
Mrs. Marcia A. Lee, A.B.
Spanish

This is Mrs. Lee's first year at the Prep. We welcome her and hope that her stay here as Spanish teacher will be pleasant.

Rev. Anthony I. McHale, S.J., M.A., S.T.L.
French

Father McHale, in his eight years here, is a most familiar personality at the Prep. He teaches French to juniors and seniors, but most important of all, is a dedicated senior guidance counselor who helps his students with the difficult decisions about college.

"Forsan et haec olim juvabit."



RELIGIOUS STUDIES

Mr. James M. McGlynn, Cand., Ph.D.
Religious Studies

Mr. McGlynn teaches the history of the Church to juniors and and the elements of Christian Doctrine to seniors. He is also the Chairman of the Religious Studies Department. Mr. McGlynn structures his course with its "student lectures" to help the student learn the skills necessary for class organization and good public speaking.

Mr. Lawrence N. Doherty, M.A.
Religious Studies

Mr. Doherty in his classes tries to give students a better understanding of the person of Jesus and Christian morality. He is also involved and interested in the Pro-Life Movement of America. He shows his concern for students both in the classroom and as a sophomore guidance couselor.

"It is a privilege to work with the fine students, parents, faculty, and administration who are 'The Prep'"

Mr. Thomas B. Bowe, M.A.
Religious Studies

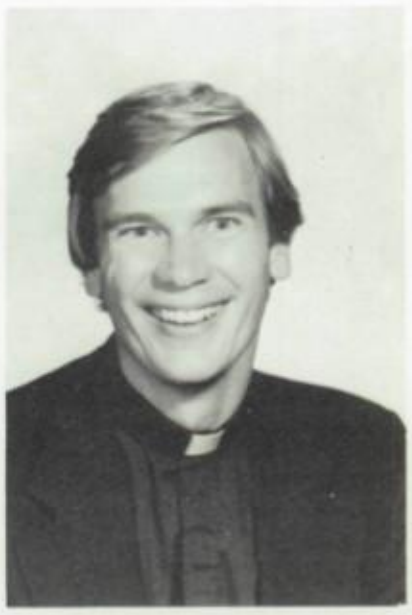
Mr. Bowe teaches religion to juniors and seniors. In class he compels his students to question and discuss relevant topics both in the world and the school itself. He adds to his classes with his witty remarks, and especially, with his Bill Travers stories.

"St. Joseph's Prep has been and continues to be the most positive teaching experience that I have experienced across the spectrum of public and private secondary education."

Mr. John P. Horn, S.J., M.A.
History, Religious Studies

Mr. Horn in his first year here at the Prep has assumed the important job of moderator of Intramurals. He can be found outside almost every day directing the action. His hard work also shows through in the classroom including his own homeroom 2D.

"Let us tame the averageness of man and make gentle the life of this world. (Aeschylus)"



Sr. Kathleen Woody GNSH, A.B., M.A.
Religious Studies

Now in her second year at the Prep, Sister Woody has played a vital role in the organization and coordination of religious activities, including student liturgies and retreats. Combined with her capacity as a part of the Campus ministry she has worked as moderator of the Cheerleaders and as a member of the Institutional Planning Committee.

"I admire the Jesuit way of education. The Prep has really great potential and as an educator, I like being a part of it."

Rev. Joseph F. Simmons, S.J.
Chaplain

In his third year as chaplain, Father Simmons has brought new life to the retreat program. His work is aimed at developing the spiritual attitudes of the students while forcing the students to examine their own attitudes and their own self. Father also is a counseler and is always available when someone is in need of advice.

SCIENCE

Rev. Stephen A. Garber, S.J., M.S.
Chemistry

Father Garber, in his quiet yet engaging manner, introduces students in both sophomore and junior years to the principles of chemistry. To further this he also moderates the Chemistry Club for students more deeply interested in the subject. His own dedication to his students exemplifies what he sees in the Prep student.

"A Prep graduate should be a scholar, a gentleman, a leader, a Christian, and he should be genuinely concerned for his fellow men. His life ought to reflect a strong sense of faith and justice."

Mr. James J. Drew, M.S.
Physics

As the only Physics teacher at the Prep, Mr. Drew carries the entire burden of a course which more and more students are electing. Well versed in his field, Mr. Drew explains to students the principles of physicists from Galileo to Einstein. As an alumnus of the Prep, he also imparts a deep love of the ideas which the Prep exemplifies.

Mr. Francis J.DeHoratius, M.S.
Chemistry, Gen. Science

Mr. DeHoratius works hard to give his students a basic understanding of the theories of Chemistry. An alumnus of the Prep, he is a member of the Board of Trustees, representing the faculty on that body. He usually stays after school and is available to the students who need his help.

Mrs. Barbara Kelly, B.A.
Biology

The seniors and sophomores who are taught biology by Mrs. Kelly enjoy a daily learning experience which is both fun and educational. Mrs. Kelly is also the moderator of the Yearbook.

"I am impressed by the students, faculty, and administration in their common goals of academic excellence, fraternity, and Christianity.

Mr. Vincent Lawler, B.A.
Biology

Mr. Lawler, although this is his first year at the Prep, has already become well liked and respected by many, especially those who take his two courses, sophomore Biology and Ecology Elective. His daily lectures are both captivating and exciting. Along with being a teacher, Mr. Lawler is also an intramural referee.

"I have enjoyed my introduction to the Prep. There are many opportunities for both students and faculty to become involved in a strong school community."

Mrs. Kathleen Glavin, A.B.
Chemistry, Gen. Science

In her rookie year at the Prep, Mrs. Glavin has already made a strong impression on the school by introducing Prep freshmen to the principles of General Science. In addition to General Science, Mrs. Glavin also teaches Chemistry. We welcome her and hope her years here will be fruitful.

SOCIAL STUDIES

Mr. Jerome Taylor, M.A.
History

Mr. Taylor teaches the popular A.P. and Modern American History Courses at the Prep. As Chairman of the History Department, his vast knowledge of history is always at the disposal of Prep students. In his classes he uses a relaxed atmosphere approach to create a good working enviroment.

"The Prep attracts great students; it is truly a pleasure to be here."

Rev. J. Vincent Taggart, S.J., M.A.
History, Pre-Prep

Father Taggart has been the Director of the Pre-Prep Program in addition to teaching his full complement of Freshman history courses. In his capacity as Assistant Director of Admission, Father Taggart travels widely over the tri-state area recruiting potential Prep students.

Mr. Kendall B. Mattern, M.A.
History, Government

Mr. Mattern, now in his second year at the Prep, makes the history come alive when he explains the tangled story of past events. Mr. Mattern is also the moderator of the weight room, the Events Club, and the Outing Club.

"Some men see things as they are and say, 'Why.' I dream things that never were and say, 'Why not?'" (R.F.K.)

Mr. Charlie Ginn, Jr., A.B.
World History

Mr. Ginn's friendly disposition and skillful teaching have made him a very popular member of the faculty. Now in his fifth year at the Prep, he is deeply involved with the Black Culture Club of which he is moderator. His belief that the Prep is an institution dedicated to educating young men is evident.

Mr. Paul J. Lynch, B.A.
American History

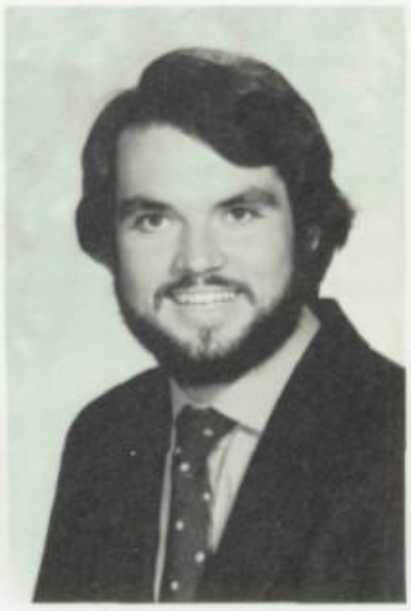
This is Mr. Lyndh's second year at the Prep. Through a lively introduction, sophomores become acquainted with the concepts of American History from its beginnings. Mr. Lynch is also a counselor and serves as Varsity basketball coach.

"Teaching at the Prep is both interesting and rewarding."

Rev. James J. Gormley, S.J., M.A., S.T.L.
History

A well liked faculty member, Father Gormley teaches World History and Art History. Father is a guidance counselor and moderator of the Prep's Fathers' Club. He also serves as the school's resident historian and has written a book delineating the history of the Prep.

"It is a most worthwhile and fulfilling experience."



Mr. John R. Lloyd, A.B.
Government

Mr. Lloyd is a Government teacher as well as a coach in the football program. He has been a member of the Prep community for the past four years. He enjoys the challenging and exciting enviroment and the oppurtunity to work with interesting students and colleagues.

"I enjoy the variety of students and the different perspectives that they bring to this school."

Bro. Bartholomew A. Sheehan, S.J., LL.B
Jurisprudence

Brother Sheehan, previously a judge, now teaches an introductory course to those interested in pursuing a career in law or who want to become more aware of our judicial system. Along with being a teacher, Brother is also the Assistant to the President for Alumni and Developement.

SECRETARIES

Mrs. Dolores McPoyle

Mrs. Dorothea Zeits

Mrs. Josephine DiPaul

Mrs. Cynthia Kupniewski

Mrs. Vanetta Kline

The Prep could not function effeciently without the hard-work and dedication of these ten women who consistently perform a countless number of thankless jobs daily. They are a group of individuals who do more than their duty. They are around to answer students' questions, notify students of upcoming events, and make mailings to various organizations and colleges. Their work is centered around one purpose - to aid in the internal workings of the system of the Prep in order to keep it functioning as a threshhold of Jesuit education.

Mrs. Mary Louise Henigan

Mrs. Frances Connolly

Mrs. Mary McGovern

Mrs. Rabuck

Mrs. Florence Carboy

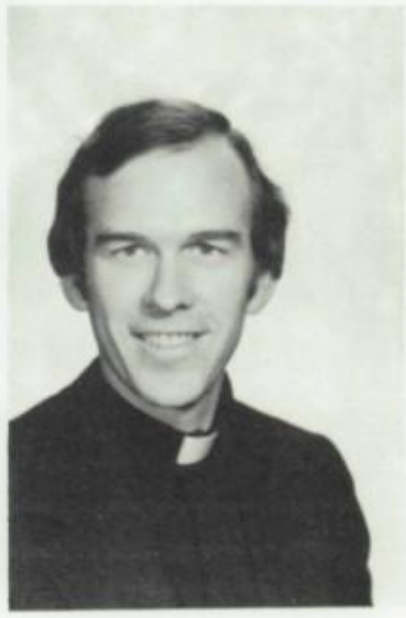
MOTHER'S CLUB

President: Barbara Martino

The Students' Mothers' Club of St. Joseph's Prep is a unique organization which has promoted, nurtured and sustained the Prep family spirit for the past forty-five years. The vitality, charm, and co-operation of these women make all their activities memorable ones which substantially contribute to the Prep Scholarship Fund.

Founded in 1934 by Mrs. Helen Rock, the Mothers' Club has grown and flourished. Under the guidance of its moderator, Brother Michael T. Mulroe, S.J., and the direction of its 41st President, Barbara Martino, the Mothers' Club has set upon a new course, to conform to our progressive and changing life-styles. Building on its past reputation of being one of the most spirited groups of fund raisers in the City of Philadelphia, this year the Mothers' Club launched a 100,000 dollar campaign to insure that unique form of education in the Jesuit tradition.

While continuing with the annual events such as the Communion Breakfast, The Homecoming, The Senior Mother-Son Christmas Liturgy and Dinner, the Spring Luncheon and Fashion Show, and Day of Recollection, the Mothers' Club has introduced a new concept, a Welcome Back Cocktail Party with emphasis on introducing freshman parents to the Prep family. Being liason between faculty and parents and providing the avenue for parent-teacher interviews, the Mothers' Club continues to strive for Prep family unity, support, and love.



Moderator: Bro. Michael T. Mulroe, S.J.

STAFF OFFICERS

The staff officers of the Prep are very dedicated individuals who care a great deal for the Prep community and who are essential in the running of the school. Other staff officers not included in his section, but who appear in other sections of this book are: Brother Michael T. Mulroe (Assistant Disciplinarian), Mr. James P. Murray (Director of Athletics), Mrs. Wendy H. Robbins (Librarian), Brother Bartholomew A. Sheehan (Assistant to President for Development and Alumni), and Father J. Vincent Taggart (Director of Community Programs; Assistant Director of Admissions).

Bro. James C. Lemon, S.J.
Assistant, Discipline Office

Brother Lemon is a fun-loving member of the discipline office. It is a post which he has held for two years. Brother has the opportunity to become acquainted with many Prep students, especially the frequent visitors at jug. Brother Lemon is always willing to help anyone and is well liked.

Mr. Drew J. Calhoun
Assistant Development Director

Mr. Calhoun performs the arduous task of securing grants from various foundations for the Prep and aiding the Prep establishment by bringing it media attention. In October, Mr. Calhoun organized the details of the visit by General Haig, which was a great success. Mr. Calhoun is especially helpful to the President in securing funds to balance the budget.

Rev. John W. McDaniel, S.J., M.A.
Assistant Treasurer

Although Fr. McDaniel is not as familiar to students as other priests, it is because he is constantly working diligently in the treasurer's office. He has a thankless, lonely job, but performs it with great care and is needed in the practical running of the school.

Mr. Anthony V. Fiume
Director of Food Service

Tony is the infamous head of the cafateria. Over the past few years, he has become a well recognized face around the Prep, preparing not only student lunches, but catering at Prep banquets, providing meals for special occasions, and helping out students having trouble with cafateria machines. He is a devoted person who provids a very necessary function at the Prep.

Bro. John B. Hollywood, S.J.
Director of Buildings

Brother Hollywood is the head of a department which takes care of the daily functioning and maintenance of the Prep. He coordinates the functions which transform the Prep into school, banquet hall, bingo palace, meeting place, and sports arena.

SENIORS

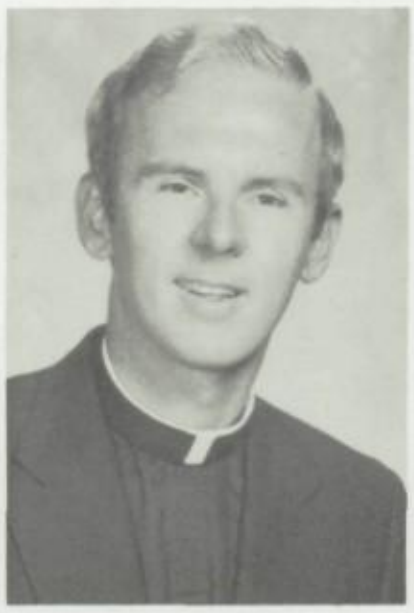
SENIOR CHOICES . . . CLASS OF 1981 . . . SENIORS'

"Some men succeed by what they know; some by what they do; and few by what they are."
— ELBERT HUBBARD

Each class at the Prep comprises a wide variety of students with highly developed and varied talents. Certain individuals, however, excel to such a stage as to be recognized as the "best" in a specific area. The Seniors pictured on these four pages are of this distinction. They are the Seniors' choices.

A Senior Choice should be proud, for it is his classmates who have selected him and who have written well of him. No Senior chosen is undeserving of both our praise and friendship. Each choice shows the true character of our great class.

Those listed here are not the only greats of our class. The Class of 1981 has 193 Senior Choices. Each person is special and each should be honored. The next forty-four pages are dedicated to these remarkable individuals.



REV. MILTON JORDAN, S.J.
Honorary Member of our Class

Four years ago, Father Jordan entered the Prep as a fellow Freshman in a new school. During this time, his many accomplishments have gained him both the respect and admiration of our class. He too leaves the Prep with us. We honor him by this tribute and wish him the best of luck.

PETER MARTINO
Done Most for School

Pete is a man of action who has the tremendous ability to effectively deal with any situation. Wherever he goes, his efforts spell success. His work with the Prom, dances, student council, and as Editor-in-Chief of this yearbook are noteworthy accomplishments. He has ceratinly left his mark on the Prep and made it a better place.

LEO JANAS
Best Student

Leo is a bright, industrious student. His stellar academic performance, work with the school intramural program, and direction of the literary staff of this yearbook are all examples of his ability to work with both people and information. He is truly a gentleman and a scholar.

RAYMOND HENRY
Most Likely to Succeed

Based on his accomplishments over the past four years, the Class of 1981 has selected Ray as a student most likely to succeed in life. His dedication, intelligence, sense of humor, and friendliness are but a few of his qualities which will allow him to thrive in whatever profession he seeks.

JOHN CZWORKOWSKI
Most Likely to Succeed

Although a soft-spoken member of our class, John is one of the most brilliant. A talented scholar who has excelled in all of his academic pursuits, John is a clear example of how hard work and devotion will lead to great success. His quiet and intuitive style will lead him far in life.

JOHN LEIGHTON
Most Likely to Succeed

Jack is one of that rare breed of man whose intensity and desire is surpassed only by his knowledge and sense. One of the brightest members of our class, he has pursued all his endeavors with a single-minded zeal and dedication to excellence. His many attributes promise him a bright future.

JAMES KING
Most Liked

Jimbo is perhaps one of the most active Seniors at the Prep. He is a starter on the basketball team and an excellent student, but above all, he exhibits outstanding personal qualities which make him special. His humor, dedication, and school spirit make him the friend of many.

CHOICES . . . 1981 . . . THE BEST OF THE BEST . . .

BERNARD KING
Most Representative

Biff had many duties as President of Student Council. His attempts to promote school spirit and extracurricular activities benefited the entire Prep community. His work and involvement in Council and on the Cross Country team make him a student truly representative of the Prep ideal.

MICHAEL FISCHER
Best Writer

In his four years at the Prep, Mike has proven to be a most resourceful and eloquent writer. His work consistently demonstrated his literary talent and his pride in his abilities. By his extensive newspaper experience and his willingness to tackle any subject, he has impressed everyone.

ROBERT BORGESE
Most Responsible

Bob has constantly shown his maturity and dedication in both his academic and extracurriculr work. A member of the track and crew teams and photography editor of this yearbook, he has accepted great responsibility. His desire to excel and achieve great things has won him both recognition and respect.

MICHAEL BATUR
Best Debator

By popular demand, Mike is proclaimed our class's best debator. He is well-known for his intense style of argument and his balance of serious matter with his unique humor and wit. Mike is an involved student who has been of great help to both this yearbook and the Intramural Program.

JOHN FEDERICO
Best Dressed

John is recognized as a snappy dresser who takes pride in his appearance. Everything he wears, from pinstriped suits to white shoes, has a look of elegance and neatness. His qualities, however, are not only skin deep. His fine dress reflects the fine person he is. He is most certainly a gentleman.

J. GILMORE MCGLYNN
Best Artist

Gil is recognized by both faculty and students alike as perhaps one of the greatest artists to ever attend the Prep. His handiwork has aided all aspects of Prep life, from Homecoming signs to Literary Magazine and yearbook work. Gil has been of true service to the Prep and has fully developed his artistic talents.

DANIEL RODOWICZ
Best Musician

The Prep has many fine, talented musicians, but Dan's amazing ability singles him out. His work as Band Vice-President and organist at all Masses has won him much recognition. His compositions and performances have also won him national honors. He deserves our praise and thanks.

DANIEL KOEHLER
Best Actor

The wide diversity of characters which Dan has portrayed demonstrate his great talent and ability. He is a fine example of all those involved in Prep dramatics. His poise on stage, strong academic standing, and outgoing personality have made Dan a popular figure at the Prep.

SENIOR CHOICES . . . CLASS OF 1981 . . . SENIORS'

JOHN SPAHR
Best All Around Athlete

John's natural athletic ability and versatility helped him to make great contributions to Prep sports. Captain of the 1980 Football team, a member of the basketball and baseball teams, and winner of the National Singles Rowing Title, he has added a valuable dimension to the athletic elements of our class.

PAUL SHOUP
Best Football Player

For the past four years, Paul Shoup has been the power man in the Prep backfield. His ability to run well to the inside was a powerful factor in the Prep's game. His dedication and determination have proved him to be an exemplary leader both on and off the field.

LEO CARLIN
Best Football Player

Although not one of the largest football players, Leo makes up in quality what he lacks in quantity. His speed around the outside added significantly to the Prep offense. His intensity and concentration have granted him much success and his personality has gained him many friendships at the Prep.

JAMES WALLACE
Best Soccer Player

Jim became known as a freshman as he led the Southern Division in scoring. In his Junior year, he was named to the All-State squad while moonlighting as an All-Area punter and placekicker for the football team. Although he was sidelined by an injury this season, his great spirit helped lead the team to much success.

STEPHEN KLEMICK
Best Basketball Player

Steve was the strong man behind the basketball team this year. As Captain of the squad, he was recognized by all opponents as a dominant figure from anywhere on the Court. Steve has also served the Prep as Treasurer of Student Council. His involvement and interest have made us proud of him

LAWRENCE HENIGAN
Best Oarsman

Larry is a true "Prepper". Last year, he rowed in the National Championship Heavyweight Eight boat in England and Belgium, and is this year's Crew Captain. Larry was also one of the captains of the Soccer team, a member of the Band, and Secretary of Student Council. He has won the praise of all.

EDWARD KONIECZNY
Most Prep Spirit

Ed was a worker in the Dean's office, the starting halfback for the soccer team, a Prep scholar, and Head Booster. His prescence around school is a testament to his deep loyalty and encourages school spirit in all students. He is certainly the personification of what true Prep Spirit is.

MICHAEL MCKEEVER
Most Supportive

When you think of support, you think of Bird. Whether it was Student Council, the football team, or anything else, Mike exemplified the words committment and dedication. He helped others by his ability to direct various activities. Mike ... the Bird ... the man ... the Hawk.

CHOICES . . . 1981 . . . THE BEST FROM THE BEST

SANTO CALABRESE
Best Baseball Player

Perhaps the steadiest player on the diamond for the Prep in the past few years has been Santo. His consistent play has turned him into a team leader. His quiet, friendly manner masks a fiery, competitive instinct, which has driven him to work long hours to develop his considerable talent.

TIM BARTON
Best Runner

This year Tim finished as one of the top eight runners in the city, earning for himself All-Catholic honors. As captain of the Cross-Country and Track teams, he was one of the league's strong competitors. As well as a year round runner, he is an excellent student and has performed admirably.

TIM BODNER
Best Swimmer

Tim, a member of a family famous in Prep swimming circles, has grown to be a fine swimmer and leader of the Prep team. He has been on the Varsity team since Freshman year and as a Junior was named All-Catholic. His confident manner and quick wit have always kept his teammates relaxed.

JOSEPH MACCARONE
Best Tennis Player

Joe is truly one of the Prep's better athletes. A winner of two All-Catholic titles, he was one of the Tennis team's top seeds. In addition to this, he is a driven worker who makes the most of his natural abilities, as seen by his consistently high academic standing.

TONY PESZKA
Best Bowler

Tony has made many contributions to the Varsity team in his four years here. His poise under pressure, coupled with his skill and determination, have enabled him to emerge as a team leader. His cool conduct, however, is not confined solely to the alleys, but is evident in his fine academic performance.

WILLIAM MCCOLE
Best Golfer

Bill has always been able to blend the skill and concentration needed for golf in an expert manner. Since joining the Varsity in Sophomore year, he has become a team leader on and off the course. His confidence, ability, and easy-going nature have earned him the respect of teammates and opponents.

In February, after several years of not having an honor society, the Prep reinstituted the Dr. Joseph A. Mattern chapter of the National Honor Society. Membership is based on scholarship, leadership, service, and character. The society, moderated by Mr. Taylor, includes the Seniors listed on the right:

Hey, look natural.

The easy way to get an A.

IT'S OBVIOUS!!!

Cousin Itt.

Go for it!

When we entered St. Joseph's Prep four years ago as freshmen, we were introduced to certain phenomena such as Homecoming, Jug, Pep Rallies, and Crimson and Gray Day. We had a little apprehension and even a little fear of our surroundings. By sophomore year we shed our fears and uncertainties and emerged as an enthusiastic assortment of scholars seeking identity. Motivated by that intangible Prep Spirit, we advanced steadily. Looking to the past with nostalgia and to the future with anticipation, we had at long last arrived as upperclassmen.

Junior year opened our eyes to the proximity of college. We were suddenly concerned about things such as class rank and SAT scores. Rapidly losing our minds in dreams of college and memories of previous Prep years, we regained our consciousness and found ourselves SENIORS.

As a Prep senior, one thinks of the four long years spent with the people behind the expressions. One can pick out the conservatives and the liberals, the quiet and the not so quiet, the studious and the not so studious. Amidst these men there exists a strong, unbreakable bond of unity. The coalescence of familiar faces on a crowded beach or in a smoky dance . . . this is the Prep . . . this is the Class of 1981.

We, the Class of 1981 wish to salute all of the devoted members of the faculty and administration of the Prep. We are especially grateful to the following men who have made our lives richer:

Mr. Bender for his Bookstore bargains.
Mr. Doherty for communicating the will of the Father.
Fr. Garber for introducing us to Maybelline and Wow-wob (Yippee!!!)
Mr. Brennan for showing us the truly "dapper" look.
Mr. Gaffney for warning us about women.
Mr. McKinney for being a "rough" guy.
Mr. Taylor for his Taylorisms.
Mr. Zimmerman for trying to put 900 students in one classroom.
Mr. Bowe for conscientiously objecting.
Mr. Mattern for bringing back the bow-tie.
Mr. Fitzpatrick for being an "uncle" to all of us.
Mr. Grillo for introducing us to alternate lifestyles.
Mr. Blair and Mr. Horn for their Hardy Boy impersonations.
Mr. Raffa for taking the "Diet Pepsi Challenge".
Mr. Bennett for his support of the tobacco industry.
Fr. Joroan for building "Milton's Hilton".
Mr. Drew for reaching new "heights" in Physics.
Mr. Murray for "obvious" reasons.
Fr. Roach for bugging us.
Mr. Mullen for being "Moon".
Bro. Lemon for his a-peeling style.
Bro. Mulroe for being the Mamas' boy.
Fr. McHale for his Benny Hill impersonations.
Mr. Hart for . . . "ya know".
Mr. Kling for imitating the third emperor of Rome.

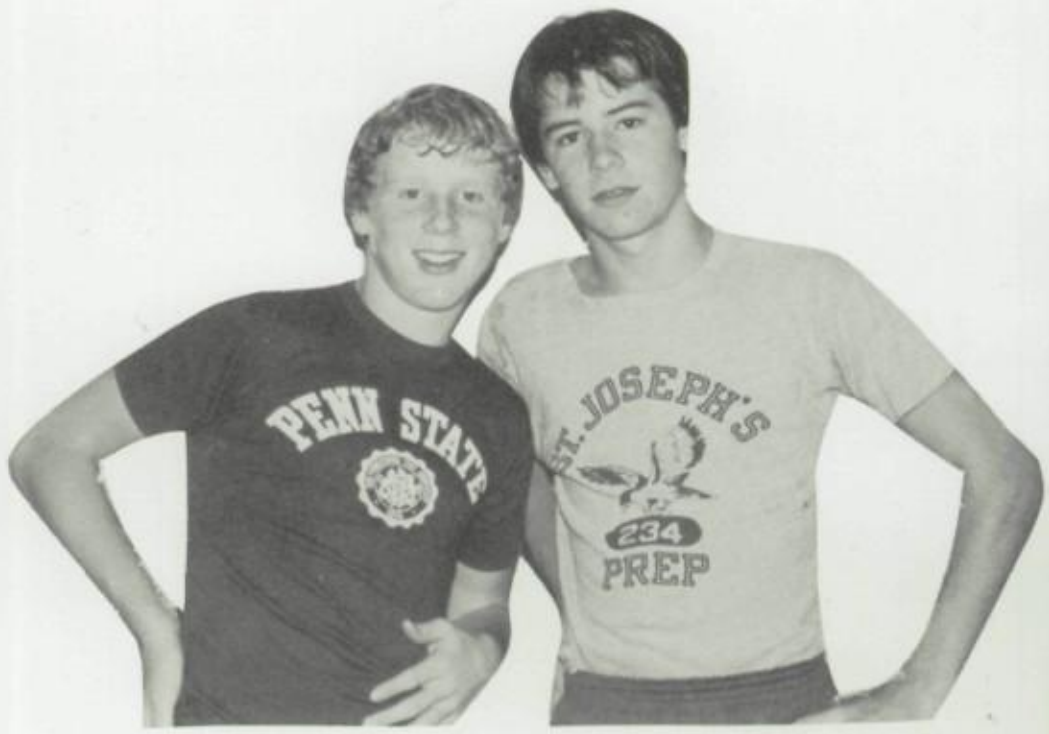
FRESHMEN

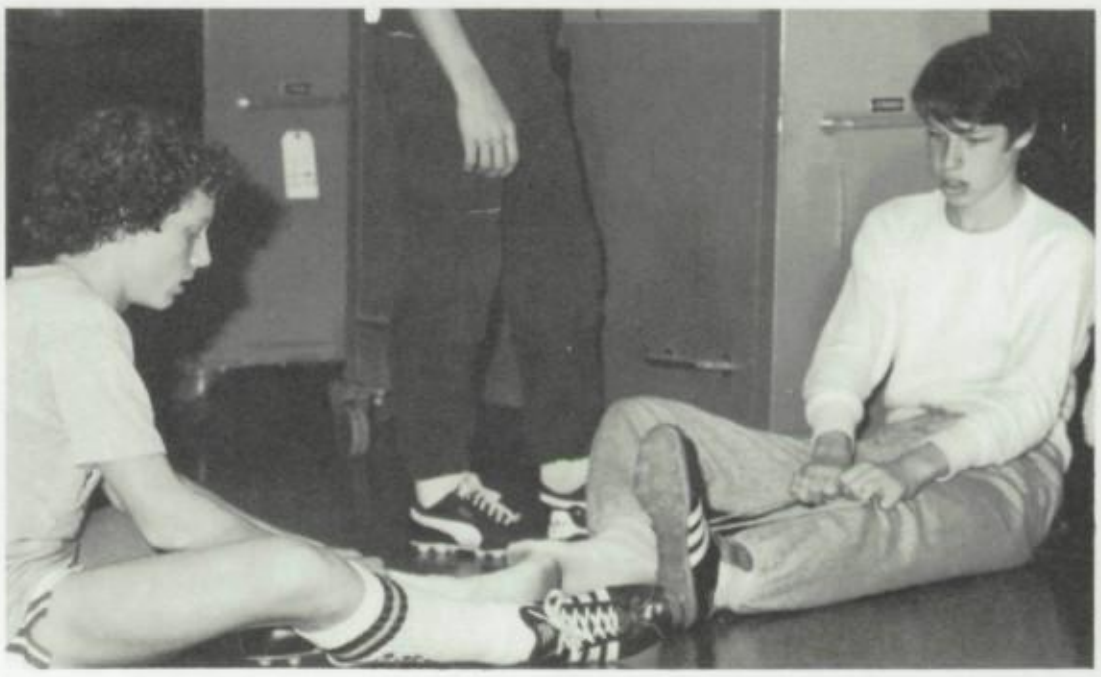
Every year, the first week of September is dedicated to the welcoming of a new Freshman class to St. Joseph's Prep. In this year, our 130th anniversary, a freshman quickly becomes aware that he will someday be a part of the proud traditions of the Prep.

As the year progresses, he matures as he makes new friends from Philadelphia, the Suburbs, and South Jersey. The faculty, the upperclassmen, and the new experiences of St. Joe's provide the academic, religious, and community environment in which a freshman grows into a young man. The special Prep family accepts the responsibility of preparing him for success in the world after he leaves the Prep.

As freshmen, young men see that learning at the Prep is more than the seemingly endless hours of homework. It is a process combining the four hundred year tradition of Jesuit education with the advantages of the world today. He joins in sports and extra-curricular activities to become a fully developed person. His frustrations and successes help to strengthen his character and establish his individuality. The Freshman is made to realize that he is an important part of the Prep and that the Prep will always be an important part of him.



Freshmen walk the plank.



Patty cake, patty cake ...

SOPHOMORES

Sophomore year at the Prep is the year for a student to start making plans for his future. He is no longer an innocent, wide-eyed freshman. After his first year, he returns with more confidence in his ability to function as a student. He is now eager to contribute more to the activities and the life of the Prep. He again finds new teachers ready to help him achieve academically. For some, there is an interest in Classics and in Greek, for others, there is a pursuit of study in the sciences.

The Sophomore, through necessity, learns to discipline himself and his time in order to succeed in a rigorous combination of academics, sports, and extra-curricular activities. He is challenged constantly to succeed by both his teachers and his peers. The Prep offers him opportunities to reach potentials which he could not achieve elsewhere. The maturing student accepts the challenge of an environment geared for the development of a sound mind in a sound body. Freshman year was the initiation. Sophomore year is yet another step that a young man must take in the process of growth to adulthood in the true spirit of Jesuit education.

Look out! Here come those upperclassmen.

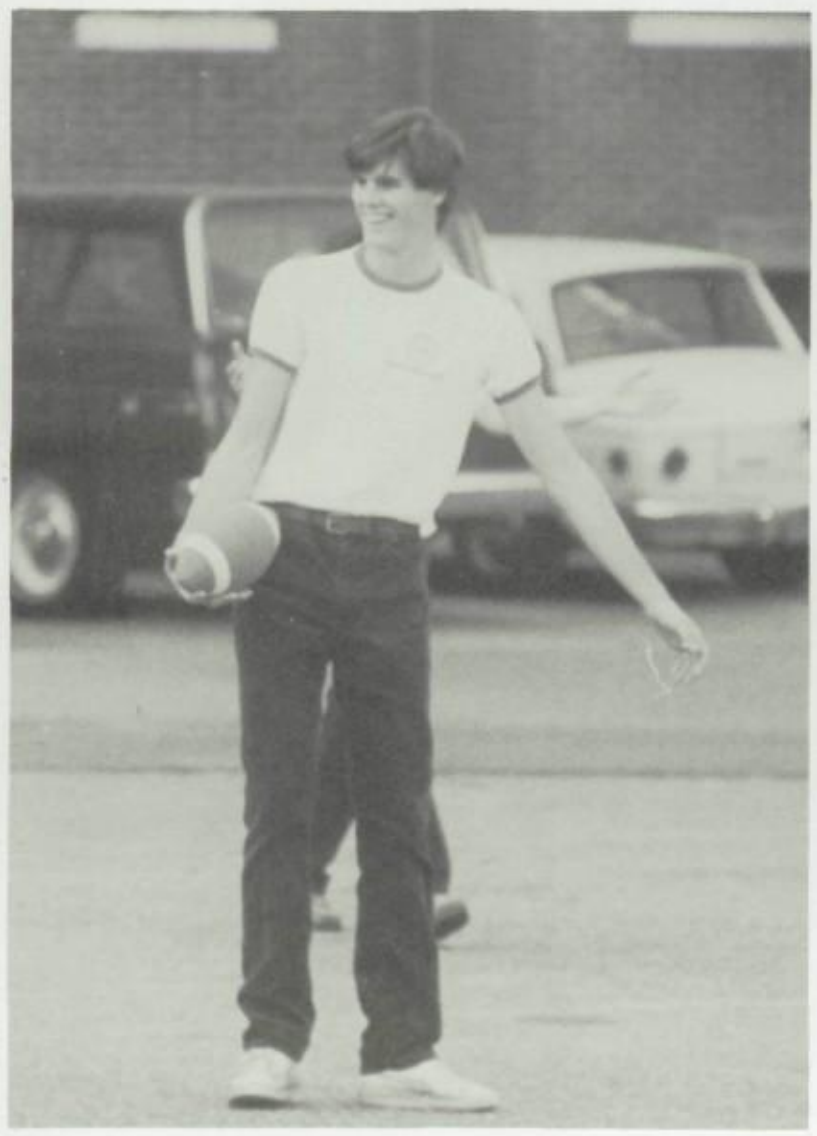
JUNIORS

Junior year is a time of transition and change in the life of a Prep student. A solid foundation has been laid in freshman and sophomore years. Now it is time to build upon that foundation. The junior must begin to establish an individual set of moral values and attitudes which will determine his relationships with his family, his community, and his God.

At this time, the goal of Jesuit education will fully reveal itself not only as the pursuit of academic excellence, but also with Christian growth as its ideal. Excellence will lead to Christian growth and thus, is constantly stressed in every avenue of student's life. The goal of the educators is not only to achieve growth through excellence, but also to channel this growth into a quest for truth in the service of one's neighbor.

The junior becomes a living part of Prep tradition in the Spring at the Ring Mass. The school ring, a pure symbol of the Jesuit heritage - a heritage of academic excellence, athletic achievement, community involvement and Christian growth - is passed on to him. The Junior becomes a part of the PREP, and joins the many thousands of proud alumni before him upon whom this great honor has also been bestowed.

There is more opportunity for a social life in Junior year.



Juniors begin to take on roles of leadership and responsibility.

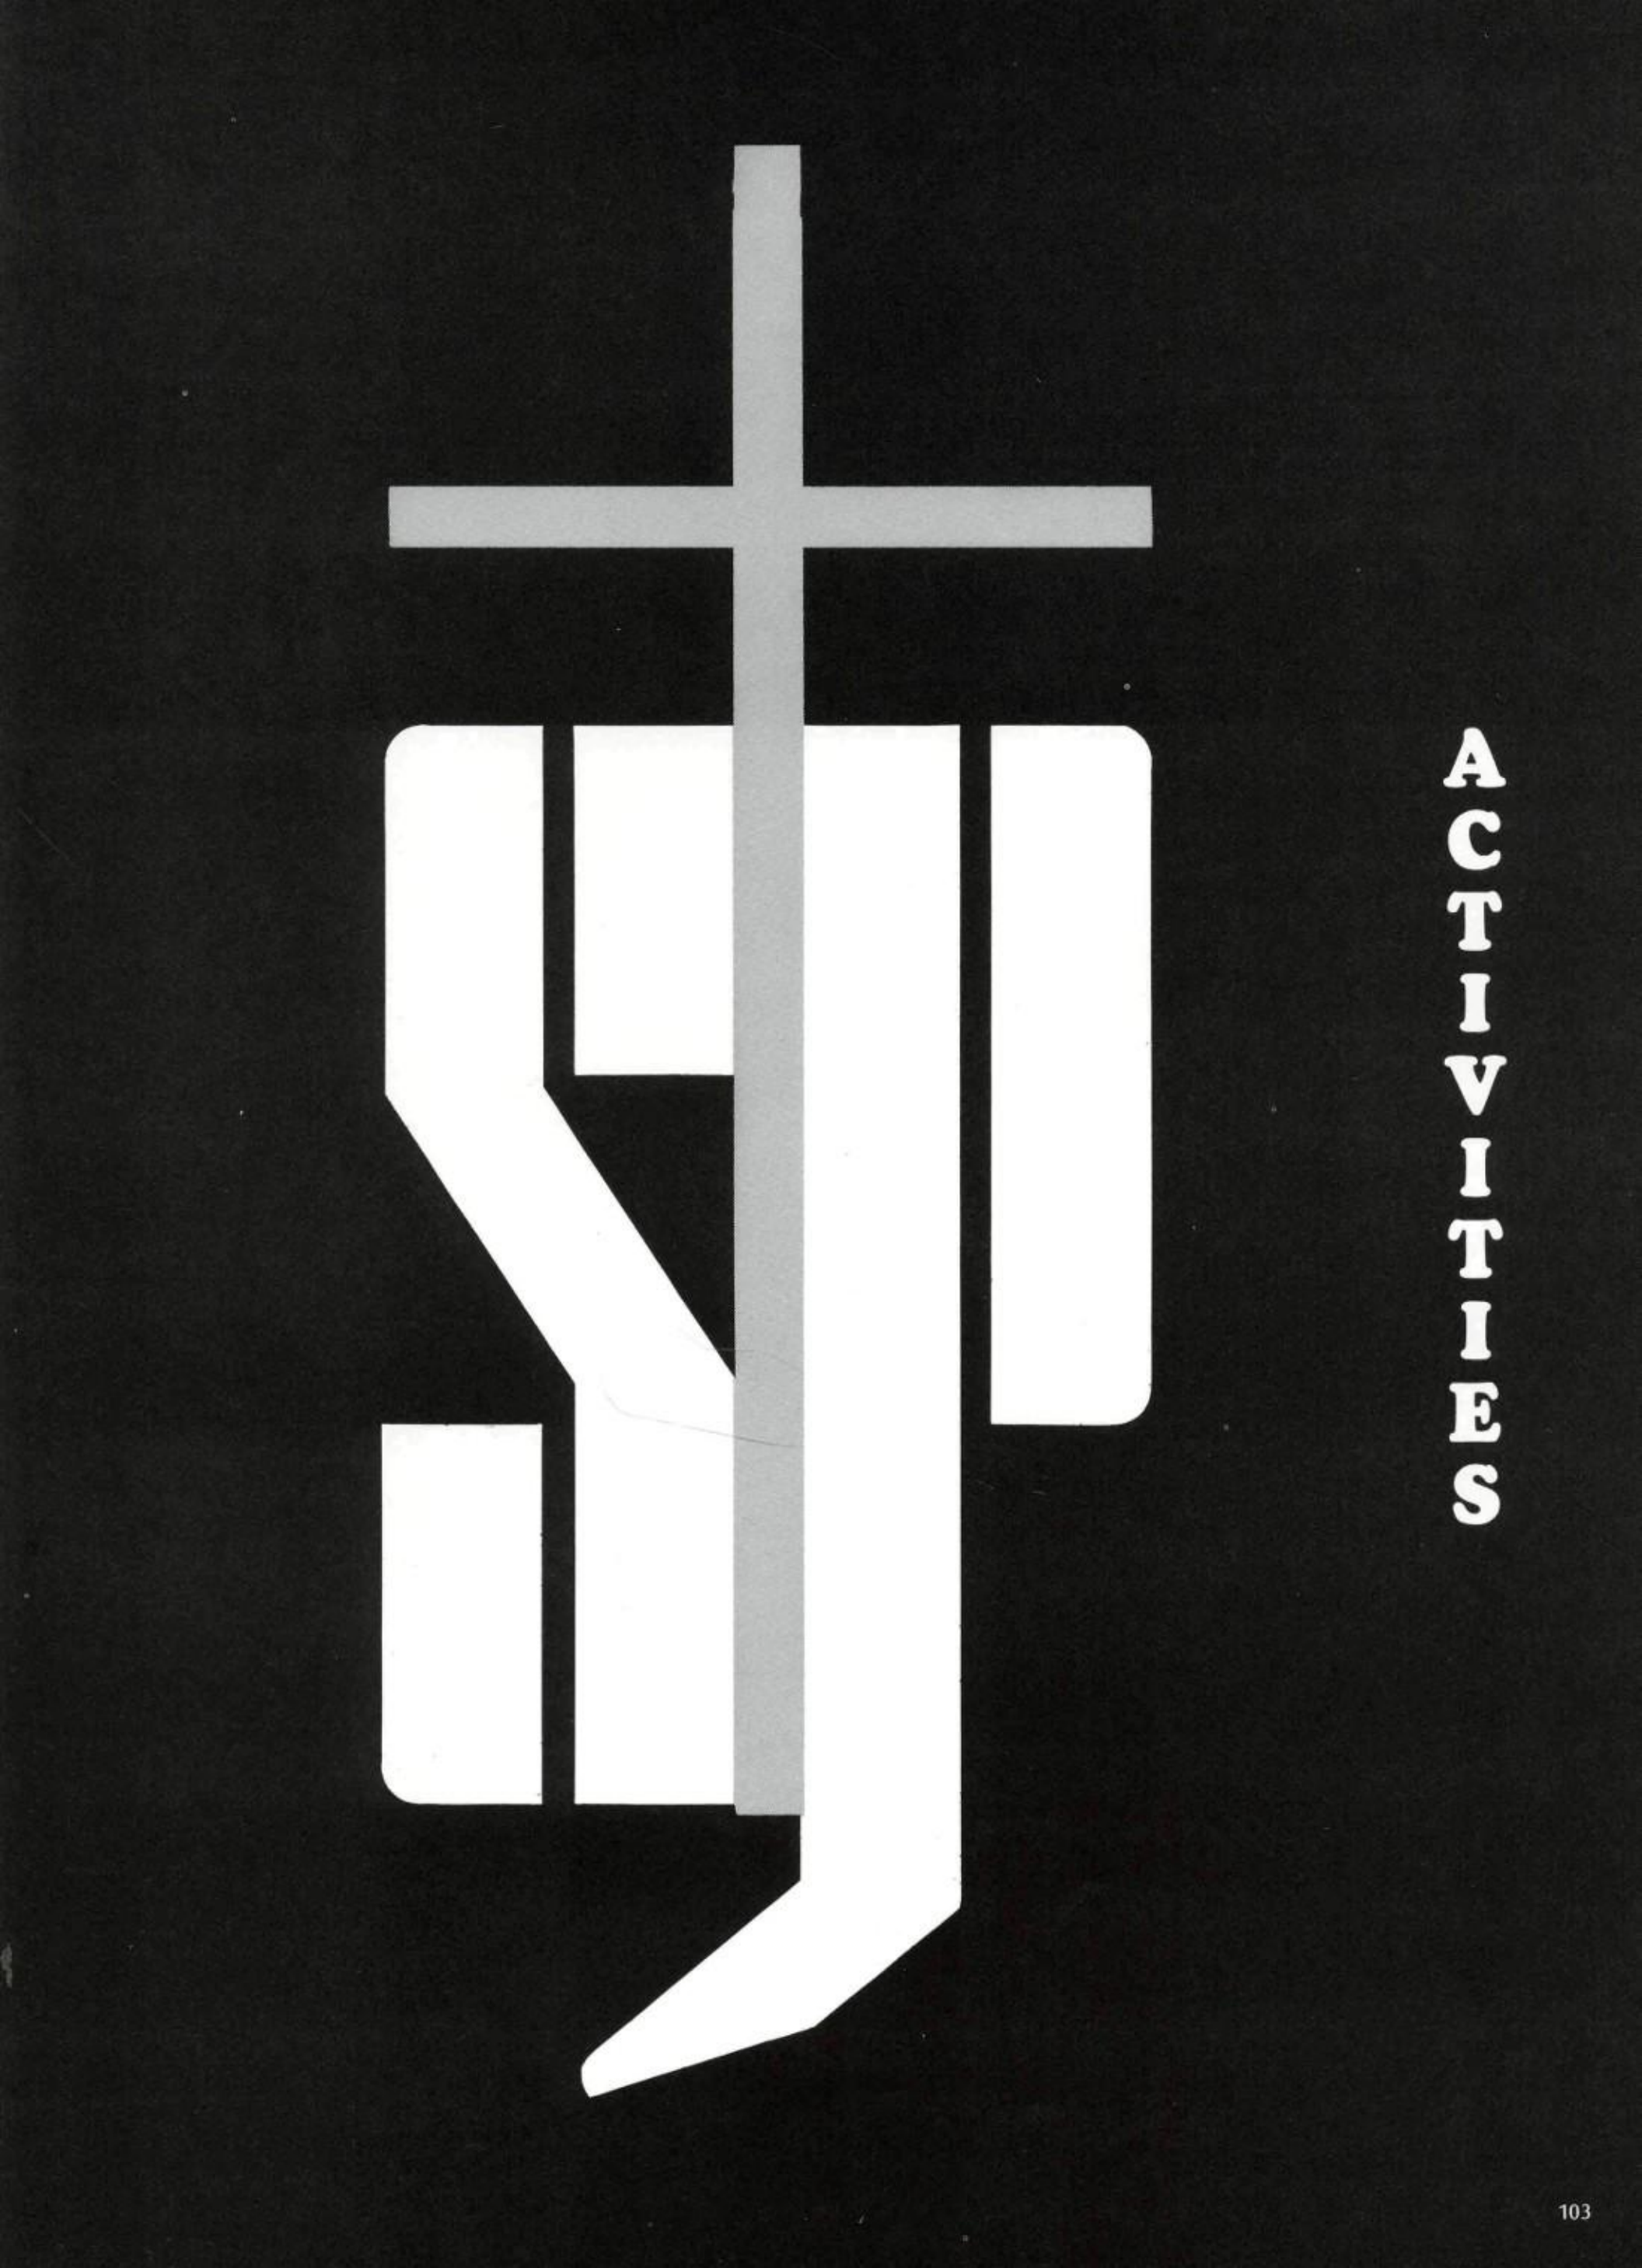
THE PREP FAMILY



ACTIVITIES

STUDENT COUNCIL '81

Treasurer McKeever does his homework as President King tells Secretary Henigan never to wake him again during a meeting.

Vice-President Diviny comes too late to get a seat.

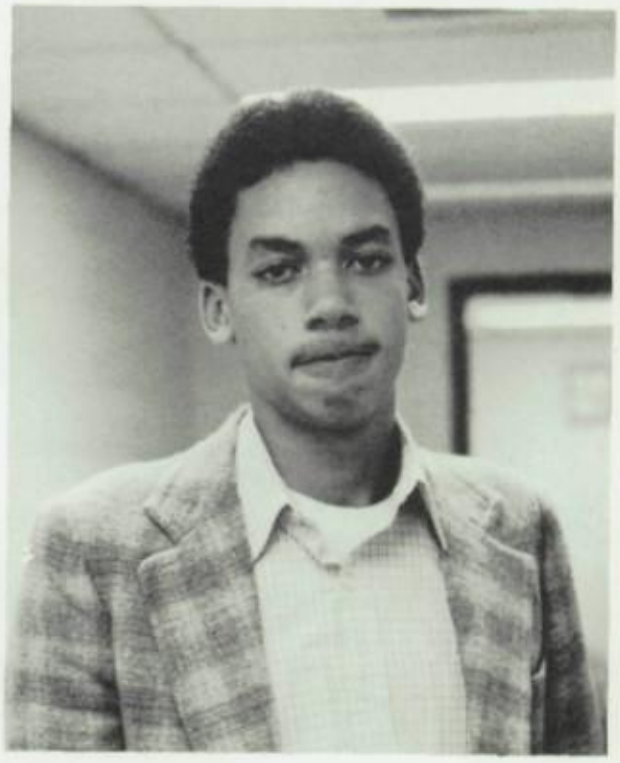
This year, under the leadership of President Biff King and Moderator Mr. Zimmerman (left), Student Council departed from some of its traditional roles and assumed new ones. Procedural changes were also made. The biggest change was the scheduling of early morning meetings rather than the traditional afterschool meetings which have always been sparsely attended. In addition, meetings were no longer held in parliamentary procedure, for few members were acquainted with this system. By making these changes, meetings became short and uncomplicated, allowing free discussion of issues.

This year, the control of the Homecoming Band was turned over to the Mothers' Club and it was felt that Teacher Evaluations were not needed. However, Student Council continued its role as coordinator of the Christmas Food Drive. In addition, Council launched a well organized Freshman Orientation and held several very successful mixers with Mt. St. Joseph's Academy. The overall effort was one which promoted participation in school activities and events and encouraged school spirit.

"Ask not what Student Council can do for you; ask what you can do for Student Council."

Lieutenant Columbo quickly jots down notes.

BLACK CULTURE CLUB

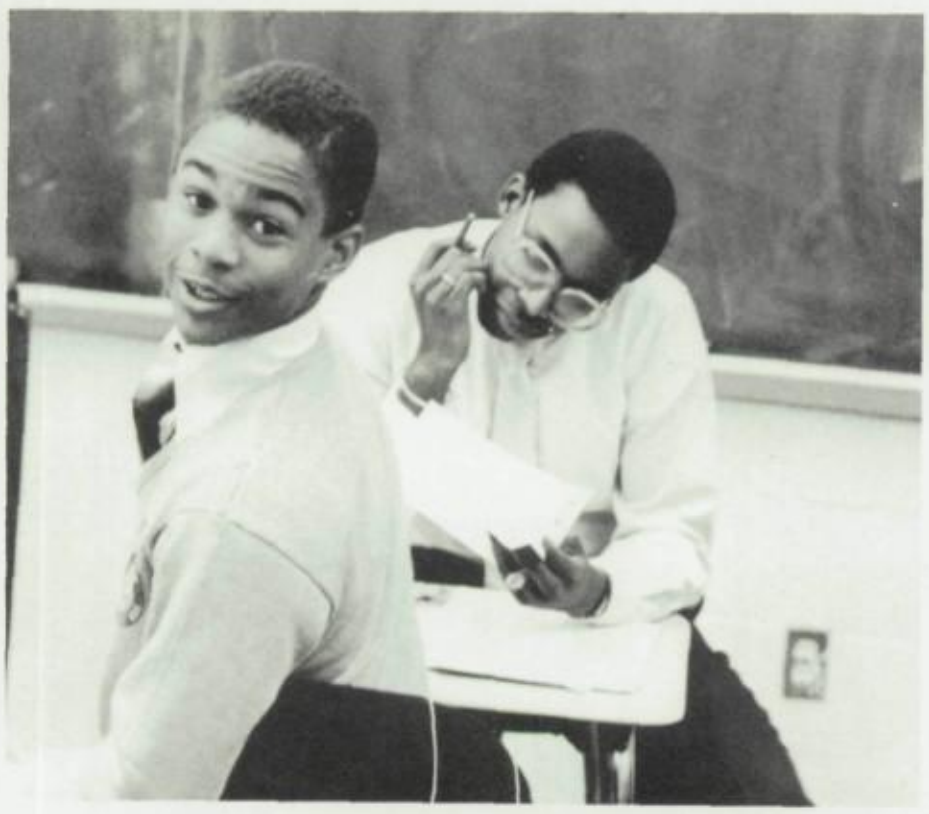


My mama told me there'd be days like this.

The Black Culture Club of the Prep, under the leadership of Mr. Charlie Ginn, is an integral part of the community. The club meets twice each month to discuss and plan upcoming events. President Michael Bell and the members of the Executive Committee are popular students and hard workers. Their devotion to the club and their desire to be of benefit to the Prep makes the club an important part of the black community.

In cooperation with Student Council, the Black Culture Club held several dances this year and organized a Mass in honor of Dr. Martin Luther King. The highlight of their accomplishments is the annual presentation of intramural awards which are bought solely by the contributions of this Club.

Tony makes a point?



"If he's the teacher, I'm leaving."

President Michael Bell.

HAWKLET '81

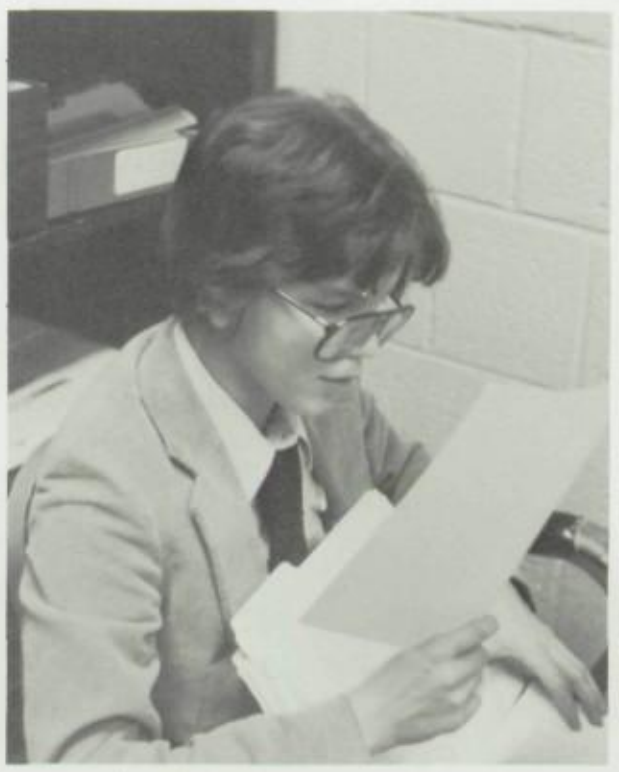
The HAWKLET, under the direction of Moderator Father O'Connor and Editor-in-Chief Joseph Locala, functioned as the Prep's main campus newspaper. The paper, which was published more frequently this year than in past years, developed a high degree of quality and professionalism. The HAWKLET combined an exciting use of photography with expanded layouts to produce interesting and well organized publications.

This newspaper served primarily as a source of news and sports reports, but several new columns were added. Thought-provoking editorials stirred students to respond with numerous letters concerning the Prep, the nation, and the world. Students appreciated the work of the newspaper staff and were eager to see forthcoming issues.

The HAWKLET has succeeded in rallying interest and support for many Prep organizations and newly formed clubs. It has produced both information and entertainment and offered a foothold for aspiring young journalists. However, the HAWKLET appeal does not stop at the Prep. This year, a newspaper exchange was established with over two hundred other high schools throughout the United States. Through the hard work of the entire staff, the HAWKLET has introduced a new life and vitality to Prep journalism.

"Well, the results are in. Our Cheerleader exposé is a success."

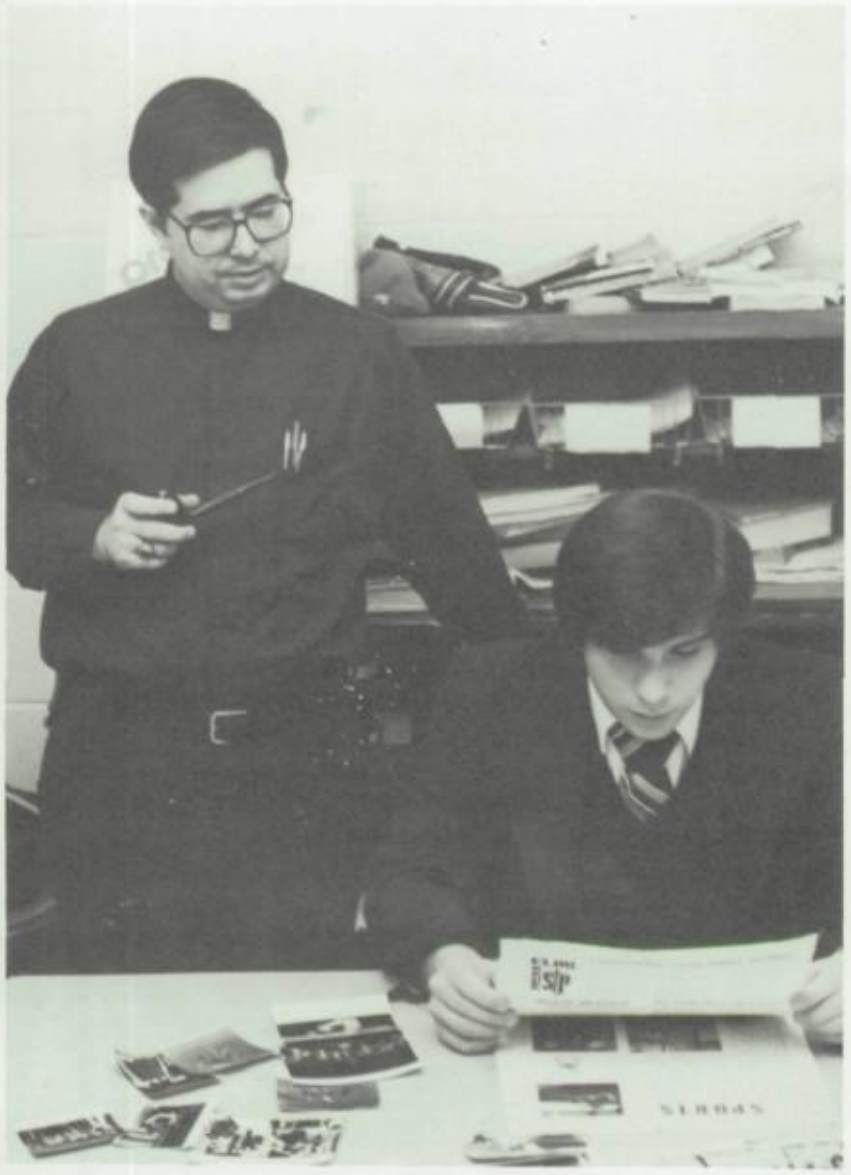
"They insist on spelling relief R-O-L-A-I-D-S."



"Oh, look! A letter from Andrea!!"

"Phasers are locked on target, sir."

What happens when the cap is left off the rubber cement bottle?



Should Editor-in-Chief Joseph Locala give up his seat to Moderator Father O'Connor?

HAWKEYE '81

The HAWKEYE is the sports newspaper at the Prep. Under the direction of co-editors Jack Leighton and Dave Bellwoar, the paper provided summaries of all major sporting events at the Prep. Although the frequency of this publication was not on par with the HAWKLET, the HAWKEYE gave both interesting and important stories of the athletic life of St. Joe's Prep. The staff combined members of all sports and was truly representative of our great times.

YEARBOOK

The 1981 CHRONICLE Yearbook succeeded in its effort to reflect the tradition of excellence and the spirit of pride in the Prep's one hundred thirty year history. This success can be attributed to the determination and dedication of the editors and staff members. Their long hours of hard-work stemmed from a desire to create a book of which our class could be proud, a book of rememberance of a life for four years, a book proclaiming the victories and friendships of the Class of 1981, a book showing the PREP.

The actual design and format of the yearbook was developed by Editor-in-Chief Peter Martino and was completed in a competent and consistent manner by the entire staff. Moderator Mrs. Kelly allowed the staff the freedom to make the decisions on the content of the book, while concentrating her efforts on the financial aspects of the book. Throughout the years, over four thousand photographs were taken by Assistant Editor-in-Chief Ray Henry and Photography Editor Bob Borgese. More than one hundred articles were written by the Literary staff under the direction of Literary Editor Leo Janas. Steve Wall, the Layout Editor, combined efforts with Peter Martino to arrange the articles and pictures on each page and also made significant literary contributions. Credit is also due to many without whose help this book would not be a success. Mike Batur wrote most captions, Dave Brooks proved an invaluable help in the photography department and Lonhyn Jasinskyj typed many forms. Perhaps the most important aspect of the 1981 CHRONICLE staff, however, is that regardless of rank or title, everyone performed tasks in all areas within the yearbook.

In essence, the 1981 CHRONICLE is a yearbook combining classical and modern dimensions in a unique style. The format and character of the yearbook has been totally revised. Through its innovation and concentration, the yearbook staff has produced a book which can be cherished today, tommorrow, and fifty years from now. This is the book of the Class of 1981. This is a book which has captured those moments of joy which will live forever. This is the book which portrays the true PREP SPIRIT.

The yearbook staff went to great heights to get good pictures.

The concert band took on a new sound and look this year with the appearance of a new leader. Mr. Robert Hall, the Prep tombone teacher and former guest soloist with the band, was named director. His introduction led to a renaissance in band music. The character of the band changed from a traditional, non-contemporary atmosphere to the sounds of the modern popular scene. This shift affected both participation in the band and audience appeal.

This year's band, though only thirty-one members strong, sustained the Prep's great reputation as a quality musical organization. The band is in its thirty-ninth year at the Prep and continues to be a most demanding, yet most rewarding experience for those students with interests in music.

One of the latest additions to the vast list of Prep activities came with the inception of a Jazz Band. The creation of this group came after Mr. Hall decided to revamp the music program. The Jazz Band has already become an established Prep institution, having given a stunning performance in its debut appearance in February. The group meets once each week at 7:45 A.M. to practice, copying the concert band's practice of morning rehearsals.

Both the concert band and the jazz band provide yet another way for Prep students to represent their school.

DRAMATICS

This year, the Dramatics Society provided a great deal of theatrical entertainment for participants and audiences alike. This year's Fall Production, presented in the Prep Theater on Dec. 5, 6, and 7, was the comedy, The Happiest Millionaire, written by Kyle Crichton. The play gave audiences a glimpse of the antics of Philadelphia's Drexel-Biddle clan. Mr. Paul Grillo, with the aid of Student Assistant, senior Joe Voci, capably directed the show. Much of the set was donated by the Philadelphia Drama Guild through the arrangement of Mr. Ken Ellis. Mr. Ellis also assisted Stage Manager Steve Haughton in assembling the set. Senior Mike Olley gave a strong performance as Anthony Biddle, the Patriarch of the family. Other senior members of the cast were Jon Claudy, Dan Koehler, John Federico, Mike Mullen, Joe Voci, and Bob Bennett. Juniors Tony Baratta and Steve Fera also played important roles. Girls from various area schools, including St. Leonard's Academy, Mount St. Joseph's Academy, and Nazareth Academy, also gave their acting talents to the play. Once again standing ovations were common to the Prep Theater.

As second semester began, the society began work on its Spring Production. The Prep Community eagerly awaits its next exciting effort.

CHRONICLE LITERARY MAGAZINE

The Prep's Literary Magazine, which shares the name CHRONICLE with the Yearbook, is an excellent vehicle for students to express their artistic and literary talents. This year's Magazine, moderated by Mr. James O'Brien, experienced many internal and external improvements. Editor Robert Buchanan and Assistant Editor Bernard McAleer instituted a revamped format, including more artwork, and encouraged increased participation from the entire Prep community.

The staff of the CHRONICLE displayed a genuine dedication in fulfilling the Magazine's primary purpose — fostering the growth and development of the creative abilities of all contributors. This year saw a new and better quality in the Magazine. The efforts of 1980-1981 must be commended.

LIBRARY CLUB

The Library Club aids the Prep Library Staff in maintaining an organized and efficient library system. The Library is the focal point of student education outside the classroom and thus must be kept in good working order. The Club is responsible for such duties as stacking the books, checking books in and out, assisting in library paperwork, and helping those students who need assistance.

We are deeply indebted to the Library Club for its generous and wholehearted support of Prep education.

The Club's leaders: (L to R) Bob Buchanan, Frank Monari, Miss Robbins, Steve Haughton, Mrs. DePaul, Jay Burns.

AUDIO-VISUAL CLUB

The Audio-Visual Club is an extension of the Library Club which provides an invaluable service to the Prep community. Members of the club can be seen at every major school function, recording the events so that they may live in the annals of our school. The functions of the members of this club also include supplying, demonstrating, and maintaining the costly equipment (filmstrips, projectors, cassette players, video tape recorders, video cameras, etc.), which make up the Prep's educational aids.

The A-V Club has certainly contributed to the bettering of the educational quality of the Prep and has captured the essence of Prep life in the 1980's on tapes.

LANGUAGE CLUBS

FRENCH CLUB

The French Club, under the direction of Mr. Raffa, gives students the opportunity to experience the French language and culture outside of the classroom. Besides tasting authentic French cuisine, members are able to view films in the language and may participate in the National French Contest.

The main activity of the Club this year was the establishment of a French Exchange Program with a high school in France. Prep students will soon be able to travel to France and live with a family while experiencing life A LA FRANCAISE.

GERMAN CLUB

This year, the German Exchange Program and the German Club were combined under the direction of Mr. Masko. Students interested in traveling to Germany, as well as those who merely wished to participate in the activities in the United States, made several excursions and field trips in the Spring when the German students came to the Prep.

The activities of the German Club also include opportunities to see German movies, participate in wine-tasting contests, and celebrate German culture in America.

SPANISH CLUB

The Spanish Club seeks to generate students interest in Spanish cultural, political, and social affairs. The Club publishes its own newspaper, EL TORO, which prints articles and editorials on life in the Spanish-speaking countries of Europe, South America, and Latin America.

Under the direction of Mr. Mendez, the Spanish Club sponsors films and field trips related to the many aspects of Spanish life. An annual trip to Mexico is also conducted each year during the Easter vacation period.

Moderator Mr. Mendez shows President Sean Fernandez where the Spanish Club went.

FORENSICS

The Forensics Club, under the direction of Mr. Raffa and Mr. Trimarco, is the Speech and Debating Society of Saint Joseph's Prep. The club is a member of the Pennsylvania High School Speech League and the Philadelphia Catholic Forensics League. Members have the opportunity to participate in tournaments in the Philadelphia area, as well as the national competitions such as the Harvard University Forensics Tournament.

This year, the Forensics Team fielded five categories: Declamation, Interpretation, Extemporaneous, Persuasion, and Informative. Senior Michael Fischer and Juniors Al LaSpada, Mike Betz, Louis Miller, and Andrew Stringer were instrumental in strengthening the team. Their accomplishments have brought them success and recognition and have helped to maintain the excellent reputation that the Prep has in the Philadelphia Forensics circles.

CHESS TEAM

This year, the Prep fielded one of its strongest Chess teams ever. This was due to the skill and performance of its returning members: Bill Bora, Andrew Costigan, Tom Leonard, Louis Miller, Dominic Novielli, Vincent Pearson, Charles Sweeney, Roland Thorpe, and Patrick Quigley. The team assembled each day after school in the galleries to practice for upcoming tournaments.

Under the able direction of Father Martinez, the Chess Team continued its streak of successes. Last year, the team's consistent victories in tournaments gave them the honor of selecting one member to send to the World Open. This year, they set even greater goals. The team took first place in the South Jersey Quads, a first place divisional title at the prestigious Chaturanga Open, and placed highly at the Glover Memorial Tournament. They easily defended their title as the Pennsylvania State High School Champion, and have plans to enter higher level competitions. They most certainly add to the honor of the Prep.

SCIENCE CLUB

The Science Club is an organization which allows students to pursue their interests in science beyond the restrictions of normal classroom work.

The members define experiments and perform them in order to gain a greater understanding of the scientific principles of our world.

Through the generosity of the moderator, Father Garber, the students are supplied with the materials and equipment and have the added advantage of guidance from this dedicated man whose vast experience and knowledge is quite helpful.

PHOTO CLUB

In any school, there are a number of organizations which work behind the scenes. Their anonymity is only surpassed by their value. The Photo Club is such an organization. Directed by Fr. Vincent Taggart, the club and its facilities provide an important service to student activities such as the newspapers and this Yearbook. The club gives its members, be they amateurs or more advanced photographers, the opportunity to more fully develop their skills and enjoy photography. The Photo Club's darkroom is an important school asset, providing the necessary equipment and chemicals to develop and print film. Many school activities would be less "colorful" without the Photo Club.

PRE-PREP

This Fall, Pre-Prep entered its eleventh year as the largest division of our school's social service program. Extending from early October through March, this Saturday morning program provides tutoring by area high school, and St. Joseph's Prep students to eighth grade students attending from all over the city.

Father Vincent Taggart, Director of Community Programs and Assisstant Director of Admissions, serves as coordinator of the Program which provides students instruction in both Mathematics and Reading skills. Stephen Wall (Student Director) enlists tutors and provides them with information on the general procedures involved, while Mrs. Edmund Scanlan supervises the Reading department of Pre-Prep. Above all, it is the cooperation of tutors and students which encourages the growth of personal maturity.

INTRAMURALS:

I. FOOTBALL

Don't let it come down!

Ve have vays ov making you confess.

THE KEY TO SUCCESS IN FOOTBALL

Throw it . . .

Catch it . . .

Squeeze it tight . . .

Hide it well . . .

And run like hell!

Intramurals is the biggest extra-curricular activity at the Prep. The program involves more than four hundred enthusiastic students from all years who meet each afternoon between 3:00 and 5:00 to engage in intense homeroom competition. The program is managed by Mr. Horn, who has done a fantastic job in his first year at the Prep. The superb organization allows the program to run very smoothly and prompts much student support.

The intramural program is an important facet of Jesuit education. The goal of the school is to develop the students not only academically and spiritually, but also physically. Intramurals offers the perfect opportunity for a student, regardless of his talent, to participate with friends in a healthy competitive atmosphere. The student service to the program is as important as the program's service to the students.

The intramural football season lasted from September until November. All games were played in the back parking lot under the supervision of Mr. Horn and over twenty volunteer referees who performed thankless tasks. The football program attracted twenty-seven homerooms and over three hundred students. Perhaps the most memorable aspect of the season was Mr. Horn's daily announcements to Seniors to move their cars so that "intramurals might (may) begin."

II. HOCKEY

The ever-important face-off.

Opponents stick it to each other.

Beginning in early January and running through mid-March, the Intramural Hockey Program added both excitement and fun to the school day. The games were played in the Multi-Purpose Room, which lived up to its name. A twin-rink arena was set up four days each week in this monstrous room by the use of stacked tables. Although the appearance of the rink was not one of a professional hockey game, the participants consistently played with the vigor and aggressiveness of N.H.L. players. Twenty-seven teams, representing the Underclassmen homerooms and five Senior teams, chosen by draft, competed throughout the season for the right to be named school champs. The program proved most popular and beneficial to the Prep.

BOOSTERS & MINIBAND

The Boosters and the Mini-Band are the unsung heros of the Prep. They are the life in a tough football game and the motivating force in a tight basketball game. They are the Rowdies, the involved students, the true Prep supporters. Led this year by Ed Konieczny, the Boosters organized many rallies, painted a countless number of signs, and consistently supported all Prep activities. The Mini-Band, under the direction of Mr. Hall, provided all Preppers with the music to cheer with. The thunderous renditions of the school song and the infamous "Work Song" never went unnoticed at a game or rally.

The Boosters and the Mini-Band represent the Prep Spirit. This Spirit is the spirit of hope, of happiness, and of success. Through their efforts, this spirit has spread to all students and has maintained the Prep's great pride.

SPORTS

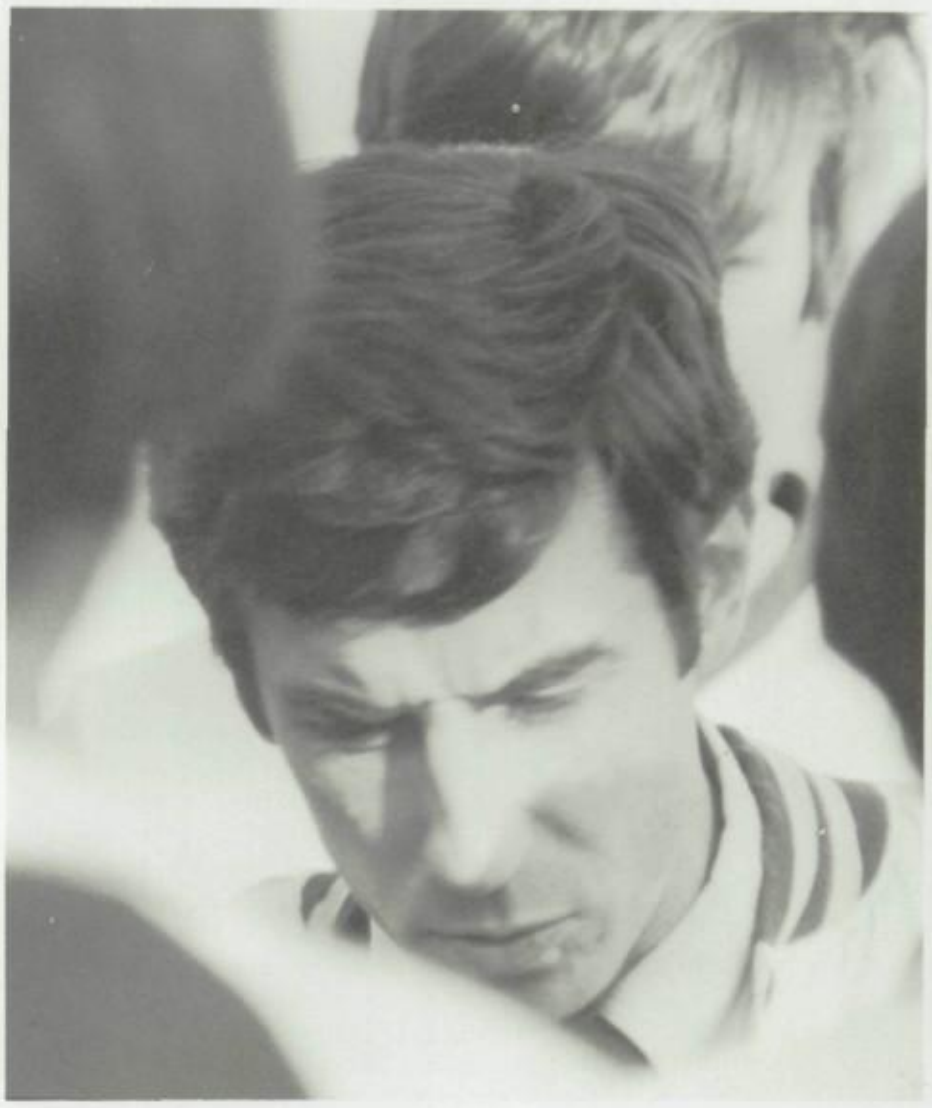
ATHLETIC DIRECTOR

Five Southern Division Championships in the past six years and more than 100 victories in its short history are just a small testament to the remarkable accomplishments of James Murray in his role as refounder, director and coach of the Prep soccer program. Not since the 1920's had Prep players walked onto the fields to challenge their Catholic League rivals. But Mr. Murray, himself a Prep graduate, recognized the sport's growing interest in the area. When he assumed the post of Athletic Director, his hope for soccer at the Prep became a reality.

The winning tradition, although now accepted without question, did not come about without a certain degree of adversity. The first years were difficult, to say the least. The highlight of the 1972 season was not a victory (the team went 0-12), rather it was the scoring of The Prep's first goal, against West Catholic midway through the season.

Mancy coaches can assemble a team of naturally talented players, but combining skill in some with desire in others, produces success. Mr. Murray has been able to develop the athletic abilities of his players, while at the same time instilling in them the principles of sportsmanship. Coach Murray has taken players from all four years, made them a team, and let them play; not for him but for the Prep and for themselves.

The attitude which produces winners on and off the field has gained Mr. Murray the respect of coaches who know soccer. It has also shown him to be a coach who teaches his players the real benefits of competition, and the true meaning of class.



MR. JAMES P. MURRAY

1980 SOCCER - SOUTHERN DIVISION CHAMPIONS

In 1980, St. Joesph's Prep boasted yet another excellent team as this year's squad marched through the regular season undefeated. The string of 16 games without a loss tied a school record and resulted in their successful defense of the Southern Division Championship. Once again, however, the Catholic League Crown was denied them.

When practice began in August, Coach Murray recognized that the talent necessary for a great team was present, provided he could find the correct combination of players to fulfill the team's destiny. With All-State Player Jim Wallace sidelined for the season and preseason injuries taking their toll, much experimenting was needed before the line-up of eleven starters could be established. The defense, led by All-City sweeper Marty Wolf, All-Catholic stopper Larry Henigan, fullbacks Steve Wall, Brian Kennedy, utility man Vince Bellwoar and goalie Charlie Lewis, engineered seven shutouts and allowed only eleven goals in the last 17 games. The offense, led by seniors Billy Glinsky, Ed Konieczny and All-Catholic Chris Diviny, scored 60 goals over the same period. After the departure of eight seniors this May, the future of next year's squad is in the capable hands of Juniors Bobby Morgan, Cholly McGlynn, All-Catholic Mike Christian and All-City midfielder Tom Fitzpatrck.

The successful performance of the 1980 Prep Soccer team was made possible through the unending efforts of the players, manager Gil McGlynn, trainer Mark Curley and through the intense dedication of coaches Jim Murray, Chuck Shields, Fernando Mendez and Joe Henigan. As interest in soccer grows, the Catholic League Championship cannot be distant.

FATHERS' CLUB

The Fathers' Club plays an important part in the athletic and financial life of the Prep. Headed by President John P. McGlynn, the Fathers' Club assisted the President by raising revenues and obtaining donations for academic and athletic activities. Due to their active role in the sports program of the Prep, the CHRONICLE staff felt it important to include them in the sports section.

At the monthly meetings, Father Gormley, the moderator, meets with the many coaches of the Prep to discuss the performance of each team and to see films of football games and crew races. In addition, the Fathers' Club holds a Freshman Night every fall which allows both new students and their fathers to meet each other. The social functions raise money to support Prep students whose fathers' die during the school year.

The Class of 1981 recognizes the efforts of the Fathers' Club and the members of the teams are especially grateful for the time and effort which have put faith in the Prep athletic program.

FOOTBALL 1980

The 1980 Prep Football season was one marked by many changes. The year began in early September as the team, under the able coaching effort of Mr. Jack Branka, rolled over Delhaas by a score of 20 - 0. Later in the season, the Prep defeated St. James and Bishop Neumann and boasted a triumphant success by upsetting the powerful West Catholic team. Led by a strong Senior force, the team continued its role in preserving this ancient Prep tradition. The team was not without underclassmen support, however. The future of the team will prove to be excellent, for Juniors who were quality starters this year have gained valuable experience and have significantly contributed to the entire team effort.

This year's football team was led by Captains Leo Carlin, Paul Shoup, John Spahr, and Kevin Kelly. It was a team which combined both hard work and dedication and a team which produced success. Although this success was not always apparent on the scoreboard, it was the genuine success of representing our great school.

CHEERLEADERS

Although often overshadowed by the rowdier members of the Boosters, this year's Cheerleading Squad played as great a part in inciting school spirit as their male counterparts. This year's squad, organized by Sister Woody, was able to keep the crowds up even when the action on the field or court turned disappointing. The ten-member squad of girls from various diocesan schools was led by Co-Captains Kristen Theune and Ann Marie Gambescia. Sharon Sweeney of the Philadelphia Liberty Belles also assisted, not only by aiding Sr. Woody and Booster members in the selection of this year's squad, but also by devoting some time to give tips to the cheerleaders. The dedication of these young women who come from all over the Deleware Valley to practice twice each week is one of the greatest inspirations to Prep athletic success.

BASKETBALL 1981

Developing a good basketball team requires a number of fundamental assets: a solid coaching staff, talented starters, a dependable, everready bench, and, importantly, dedication to the game and willingness to spend long hours on practice and preparation. The 1980-81 Prep basketball team has all this and much more. Head Coach Mr. Paul Lynch, with Assistant Coaches Mr. Tony Funsted and Mr. Ron Zawacki, worked diligently to develop the players' individual skills, to mold the team into a cohesive unit, and to formulate the on-court strategy. Their game plan was carried out by the squad's gifted starting five which included seniors Jimbo King, John Spahr, and Derek Redcross, the Klemick brothers, Steve and John, and sensational junior Keith Coleman who was Player of the Week. A strong bench supported the starters and backed them up whenever necessary. The team captain was Steven Klemick and their moderator was Fr. Joseph Alminde S.J.

The squad's great talent, thorough drilling and hard work could be seen throughout its long and difficult season which began on December 1st against Frankford and which ended in a playoff berth. Their league record was 8-6; it was filled with great victories such as West Catholic and heartbreaking losses like a double overtime defeat at the hands of Archibishop Carroll. They finished in third place in the Southern Division and once again went to the Palestra for the Catholic League Championships. All those who contributed to their success deserve praise and applause for their efforts.

CREW

In 1980, Prep Crew soared to incredible heights as four boats won the Junior National Championships in their respective divisions. The Varsity Heavyweight-Eight, Lightweight-Eight, Single, and the Junior Varsity Quad rowed in the Nationals at Princeton. In addition, The Heavyweight-Eight was awarded the opportunity to row in Europe, where they placed second at the Henley Regatta in England.

This year's team members, throughout each practice and regatta, strove to continue the triumphant tradition. Head Cocah Chuck Crawford and all other coaches stressed constant year-round conditioning, winter workouts, and extra time on the water to supplement the regular practices and fully develop the potential of each squad. The team responded with zeal and determination.

Co-Captains Matthew Flynn, John Spahr, and Vincent Fox helped in the efficient running of the organization and led the team in practices and competitions. Father Taggart acted as both Moderator and Spiritual Director, always lending his encouragement and support. The heavyweight boats were directed by Coach Crawford and underwent a rigorous training and conditioning period, while Mr. Gus Ingas shaped the scullers into a respected group of oarsmen. Due to the sport's widespread popularity among students and alumni, Prep Crew also includes a lightweight squad and squads for novices and freshmen. Coaches Hardegan, Sweeney, and McClanahan oversaw the running of these squads. Each team, regardless of its level of experience, worked with pride and determination to develop the strength and skill which has made Prep Crew a force to be reckoned with on both the local and national scene.

THE HENLEY ROYAL REGATTA

On June 27, 1980, the Heavyweight Eight of Saint Joseph's Prep, with the financial and moral support of all Philadelphia, left for England to row in the prestigious Henley Royal Regatta. The crew had raised more than $17,000 to finance the journey for team members and their families. At Henley, the racing began on July 3; the Prep rowed impressively over the 2,100 meter course and easily defeated Clonnel High School of Ireland. On successive days, they defeated Sinsbury High School, and Buckingham, Brown, and Nichols of the United States in one-on-one elimination rounds. The only crews remaining were St. Paul's of Massachusetts and the Prep. In a hardfought race, the Prep got off to a bad start and was unable to close the gap, losing by one and a half lengths. Nevertheless, they returned home to a warm welcome in Philadelphia, and left in August to represent the United States at the World Championships in Belgium.

CROSS COUNTRY

Some sports and the athletes who participate in them do not receive the recognition that they deserve. Cross Country and the students who are involved with it surely fit into that category. Guided by their coaches, Mr. Tony Farrell and Mr. Curt Cockenberg, they worked daily to excel in a sport which demands an inestimable amount of mental and physical stamina. Their efforts did not go unrewarded. This year the team ended the season with a 16-3 record which included four first place finishes. Captain Timothy Barton led the team and won third place in the Catholic League Championship. Seniors on the squad included Tony Forcina, Biff King, Robert Nardi, Vincent Fox, and Michael McDonnell. Underclassmen as well made invaluable contributions to Cross Country's success. One of the most notable was freshman Dennis Tully who won the Freshman Catholic League Championship. Congratulations and praise go to Cross Country for their victories and contribution to Prep athletics.

SWIM TEAM

The Prep Swim Team enjoyed a very successful season this year despite the loss of six valuable members from the class of 1980. The hard work and rigorous training program set up by Coach John Williams and Assistant Coach Timothy Bodner was most important in making the Prep a major power in the Catholic League. In their opening meet, the Prep Swim team swam to a 98-89 victory against a strong Monsignor Bonner squad. Prep swimmers won six meets during the season, losing only to Catholic League Champion O'Hara and perennial advesary LaSalle. In the Catholic League Championships, strong performances were turned in by the Medley Relay team (Joseph McCabe, Timothy Bodner, Stephen Haughton, Thomas Monari) and individually by Timothy Bodner, who received All-Catholic honors.

The strength of the Prep team was based on the abilities of Senior Swimmers: Tate Estes, Stephen Haughton, Frank Monari, John Leighton, Michael Lario, and Michael Daley. The divers, John Kresz and Michael Petroski, developed their skills as they became experienced competitors. The power of the team, however, lay not only with the Seniors. The underclassmen, especially the freshmen, showed great talent throughout the season. The 1980-1981 season was not only filled with victories, but with the assurance that Prep swimming will continue to keep the winning tradition.

BOWLING:
SOUTHERN DIVISION CHAMPS

This season, the Prep Bowling team was the Southern Division Champion and a dominant power in the Catholic League. Under the direction of Coach Dugan, the team blazed through the first half of the season with an awesome 21-0 record. At the end of the season the Prep bowlers finished in first place, winning the Southern Division crown. In the Catholic League Championship, however, they lost the title in a hard-fought match with Father Judge.

The seniors who returned from last year's City Championship team set the pace for the rest of the squad with consistent play, match after match. All-Catholic Co-captains Tony Peszka, Mike Dunst, and Tony D'Angelo led their teammates and were chosen to bowl in the Philadelphia All-Star Match. Seniors Bob Bennett and Santo Calabrese also added to the Prep's success. With strong Junior Varsity players, the future of Prep Bowling is sure to be filled with more triumphs and the legacy of success will continue.

INDOOR & OUTDOOR TRACK

This year, the Prep once again produced contenders in both its Indoor and Outdoor Track teams. Indoor Track consists of meets sponsored by a twenty-eight school organization; the competitors vie individually and not for team victories. Prep runners brought home six medals and turned in a number of strong performances. The Outdoor Season brought the team into competition with individual Catholic League rivals. Again, St. Joseph's Prep had noteworthy successes which became major factors in league meets.

Coaches Tony Farrel, Larry Simmons, and Curt Cockenburg worked with the track team as a group and individually to totally develop and condition the runners, preparing them both physically and mentally while increasing their speed and endurance. Senior Tim Barton was captain for both the Indoor and Outdoor teams, leading the squad in practice and during their meets. Other seniors who gave fine performances were Mark Turner, Mike McDonnell, Vinnie Fox, Tony Forcina, and Biff King. Excellent underclassmen, especially junior Ed Sweeney, also made major contributions and are expected to bring strength and experience to Prep teams in the coming years.

Dedication to hard work and the pursuit of excellence was the trademark of the 1980-81 Prep Track program which continued to make itself worthy of recognition in the Catholic League.

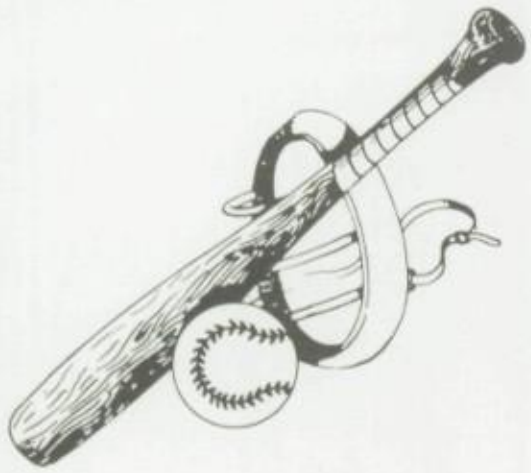
BASEBALL



In 1981, after an absence of a few years, a winning Baseball team once again returned to the Prep. With seven starters coming back from last year's squad, the Prep was able to improve upon the previous year's somewhat disappointing record, and turn in a strongly competitive season. As captains, returning All-Catholic Santo Calabrese and Mike Chitwood led the team to many impressive victories and placed them in a position to challenge perrenial power Archbishop Carroll for the Southern Division Title. Coach Malizia and Coach O'Hara, in their second year at Saint Joseph's, benefitted from the combined experience of an all- senior team consisting of Bill Glinsky, Sean Fernandez, Mike Dunst, Vince Boyle, Kevin Hanagan, Steve Klemick. Paul Perpiglia, Santo Calabrese and Mike Chitwood. As a result of dedicated work from February through May, the baseball team brought back the winning tradition so long recognized as synonomous with St. Joseph's Prep.

TENNIS

All-Catholic Captain Joseph Maccarone makes a firm stance in leading the Prep to victory.

This year, the hallmark of Prep Tennis was determined and impressive play in competition. Through the hard work of Coach Richard Fairchild, the team individually and as a whole strengthened their skills while building their stamina. As the season progressed, the team maintained a consistent level of excellence, demonstrated in a number of convincing victories. Senior All-Catholic Joe Maccarone captained the team as they vied for their fifth consecutive playoff berth. Returning seniors Bob Bennett and Tom Graham made important contributions to the team with their strong performances throughout the year. Underclassmen Assistant Captain Frank Keeley and sophomore Chris Coleman played vital roles and paved the way for future success. With another year of quality play, the 1981 tennis team continued the legacy of success.

GOLF

The 1981 Prep Golf team once again found itself in a position to contend for the Southern Division and Catholic League Titles. Senior All-Catholic Bill McCole, as team captain, led the squad along with other seniors Tony D'Angelo, Rich Ruffee, Jack Leighton, and Len Metkowski. Much of the team's success was directly attributable to the coaching skills of Mr. Michael Cunningham and Assistant Coach Mr. Michael Lang. These men have built the team into a Southern Division powerhouse, while continuing to encourage the development of team unity and sportsmanship. The growing popularity of the sport was demonstrated by the large number of students who tried out for the team. This competition for placement on the squad resulted in better individual scores and assured the team's success. Because of the number of Varsity members returning next year, the future of Prep Golf will remain one of victorious achievement.

EPILOGUE

YEAR IN REVIEW

How can one sum up an entire year of events in a few short words, capturing the spirit, the good times, the bad times, the friends, the memories, and the experience that has helped us mature? The review of a year cannot dissect and analyze all the events meaningful to every student, teacher, or administrator. We find that words rarely come close to expressing what the Prep is. This year in review is, then, an attempt to recall the school year 1980-81 by highlighting the major occurances which serve as signposts and symbols that represent what they bring about and bring about what they represent. They are both the reminders of what 1981 was and the reasons why it was so memorable. These brief snapshots will hopefully help the Classes of 1981, 1982, 1983, and 1984 recapture in later years some part of the special experience of being part of the tradition of St. Joseph's Prep. They try to recreate a myriad of happenings and give them life. They serve as a reminder of the Spirit of the Prep which lives in the hearts and minds of all those who grew into manhood at the Prep, the Spirit which lives in those who have given a part of themselves to make these years at St. Joseph's Prep something special.

But enough, for time moves on. Let us begin the tale of 1980-81. September, and the Prep is in its 130th year. Returning sophomores, juniors, and seniors welcome the Class of 1984 to the ritual of buying books, deciphering rosters, and making and renewing acquaintences. Slowly the academic and extracurricular life of the school is born again as teachers and students meet students in the classroom and activities hold their first meetings to plan the upcoming events. Some activities had begun early; the football and soccer teams were ready for the start of their seasons since August. In a few weeks we realized that it was back to the books, as summer turned to fall.

Sports dominated our Fall, as the football team began its season with an impressive win over Delhaas and ended it with a rousing upset of West Catholic. The soccer team posted another fantastic record in 1980, going undefeated through 16 games until the disappointing loss to Cardinal Dougherty in the Catholic League Championship. Despite the defeat, they were welcomed as Southern Division Champions the next day, when a rally was held in their honor. Cross Country quietly produced a season of victories and success, thanks to the hard work of its usually unsung heroes. Intramurals, the bastion of the common sportsman, continued throughout the cold winter as 3G became School Champions in football.

In October, General Alexander Haig, soon to be Secretary of State, visited the Prep and delivered a speech before a large crowd in the Prep auditorium. Meanwhile, Philadelphia's attention was focused on the Phillies as they overcame their four year jinx and became World Champions by defeating Houston and Kansas City. People poured onto the streets to celebrate the Phillies first successful World Series in their ninety-seven year history. The Fall slowly rolled to an end, as the soccer and football teams closed their seasons. The Annual Homecoming was held on November 28. This tremendously successful celebration was enjoyed by students, alumni, family, and friends alike.

Winter and Spring quickly approached, bringing 1981 into sight. However, December proved a most memorable month. The dramatics society staged a most popular production of The Happiest Millionaire and the concert band presented a well-planned Christmas concert. This was also the month for the Mother-Son Dinner and Mass. On the last day of class before the long awaited holidays began, an enlightening Christmas Liturgy was celebrated before students filed into the gym to join in Mr. Mullen's Almost Anything Goes party. After a day of fun and prayer, school was finally over for 1980.

When we returned to the Prep in January, things began moving much more quickly. We found our Eagles in the Championships and realized that only two weeks remained until exams. Then there was January 20, 1981, a day few will forget. Ronald Wilson Reagan was inaugurated as our fortieth President at noon. Less than thirty minutes later, America's 444-day national nightmare ended as we received word that the fifty-two hostages had been released and were aboard a plane headed out of Iran. The entire Prep community celebrated their safe return with a Thanksgiving Mass the following week.

February marked the beginning of new seasons for the Crew, Baseball, Bowling, and Baseball teams. Intramural Hockey began in the Multi-purpose Room and second semester was underway. At an awards ceremony, athletes from the Fall sports were recognized for their achievements and forty members of the Senior class were honored as members of the reinstituted National Honor Society. All was not happy, though. In early February, we were saddened by the news that Father Jordan was leaving the St. Joseph's Prep community. We will miss his hard working and sincere attitude toward his role in making the Prep better, but we wish him the best of luck in all his future endeavors.

As February neared an end, the Prep basketball team, after a successful season, earned a playoff berth with a game against West Catholic at the Palestra. Meanwhile, the bowling team finished the first half of its season with a 21-0 record. The Swimming team also performed well, as both teams earned playoff positions.

The Spring months bustled on as the end of the year was becoming ever-closer. The Baseball, Tennis, and Golf Teams were now the representatives of the Prep on the field, courses, and courts as the fabulous Crew team again showed the awesome strength of the Prep in rowing. As the waters of the Schulykill warmed, the Prep biggest athletic team headed out to match the many triumphs of recent years. As athletics reached its peak, academics slowed down. The school days became shorter with the institution of the Spring schedule. Life was more relaxed as summer occupied the minds of all.

As the school year ended, the Dramatics Society performed another succesful show, Le Misanthrope, and the band ended its year with a well-attended Spring concert. The days which remained could be counted without much effort, and school took on new meaning. For Seniors, this was the end. These were their last days at the Prep. They would not return; their path took them on to college, to careers, to life outside the Prep. On May 15, they rejoiced as their last day of class faded away. Exams were left, but the high school days were done.

On May 27, the Class of 1981 gathered together for the Baccalaurate Mass in the Church of the Gesu. Standing in the very spots where all past graduates had stood before provoked a sense of satisfaction and humility. Then, four short days later, on May 31, the fears, the joys, the tears, and the triumphs of the Class of 1981 were brought together with the Commencement Exercises at St. Joseph's University. There was now no Senior class, but a new fresh group of Prep alumni. Slowly the class dispersed, as each one went his own way, never to forget and forever to bear the indelible mark of their four years at the Prep. They were years of growth and new experiences, of maturing, and discovering. Now, each was ready for life.

YEARBOOK INTERVIEW: GENERAL HAIG

On October 11, 1980 General Alexander M. Haig Jr. '42 returned to his Alma Mater, St. Joseph's Prep, to address the guests of the Alumni Association, and to participate in a reception and dinner held in his honor. The Editors of this yearbook were honored and privileged to interview General Haig.

Throughout his brilliant career, General Haig has served the Armed Forces and the government in various capacities including Administrative Assistant to General Douglas MacArthur's Chief of Staff, a participant in the Inchon landings during the Korean War, Special Assistant to Secretary of Defense McNamara, a commanding officer in Vietnam, Deputy Commandant of cadets at West Point, military advisor to the National Security Council, winner of the Distinguished Service Cross, Vice Chief of Staff of the Army, White House Chief of Staff, NATO Supreme Commander, President and Chief Operating Officer of United Technologies, and most recently Secretary of State of the United States.

This yearbook was granted an extensive interview, which touched on such areas as the Prep, the military, and General Haig himself. Several of the questions and the Generals responses are listed below. Following the interview, General Haig addressed a gathering of Alumni, parents, and friends of the Prep, with a speech entitled "The Challenge of America in the Eighties," which poignantly discussed U.S.-Soviet relations and the present threat posed by the Soviet Union. Afterwards, he was presented the Alumni Association Award, "A Man for Others', which hailed him as a "soldier-statesman in the tradition of our ideals", in recognition of over three decades of service to his country and his fellow man.

CHRONICLE: General, how do you think your Prep experiences have influenced your life and your decisions in life?

GENERAL: Rather profoundly. The Jesuit order and the Jesuit system, which is, I have always felt, a combination of the classical and the practical, has served me well both here at the Prep and in my advanced degrees at Georgetown ...

CHRONICLE: General, you attended the Prep in an era much different from the one we have today. How do you feel the youth of your day was different in its attitudes and its morality from the youth of today?

GENERAL: Frankly, I don't think there are a lot of differences aside from environmental differences. There are a lot of things that today's youth is criticized for which compare in severity to the things we were criticized for. I think that today's youth is far more serious and far more concerned about the future than we were ...

CHRONICLE: General, what do you see as the role of the American military?

GENERAL: The American military has always been an extension of the political leadership of the country. I believe that a man who is in uniform is entitled to his personal political attitudes, but he must serve and serve well as long as he wears that uniform. When you find that you can't do that because of your conscience, they you must separate yourself from the military ... I think the American system is Anglo-American. It is a heritage which was born in the Cromwellian experience and transmitted in Anglo-American style through John Locke and up through our Constitution. Our founding fathers were steeped in the tradition that the military must be kept under the control of the guardians of the liberties of the people. There are other areas of the world which do not view the military like the Americans. There, the military are viewed as the protector of the freedom of the people. When we Americans, in our position ... try to transpose it to nations with a Latin heritage, Latin America, Brazil, Cuba, all military republics ... then we find a crisis in misunderstanding, because it's that which they do not understand - an American conception. We can't go around the world creating mirror images of the United States. The countries are entirely different places ...

CHRONICLE: General, you spoke of the military as an extension of the political leadership in this country. In many countries and at times in our own history, military leaders have achieved high political office. Do you think that this is changed in America today?

GENERAL No, I don't think it's changed at all. I think, in general, that the military is not warmly received because of our Anglo-American heritage and Cromwellian despotism. In times of crisis, however, it has very often been true that a military leader has risen high in politics. We had General Grant after the Civil War. Jackson was a military man. George Washington was, for all intensive purposes, a professional military man who most of us regard as a saint. I think that can happen again. I must say that to alter that kind of animosity or problem today is difficult. In my own case, when I started looking at the possibility of running for political office, that was not the porblem I faced. My problem was that I got started too late to put together an organization that would be effective. The best thing for me to do was to get behind someone who I thought would be good for the country who had that kind of organization ... I'd be worried if I could come back after being abroad for four and a half years and suddenly be a recipient of various political support.

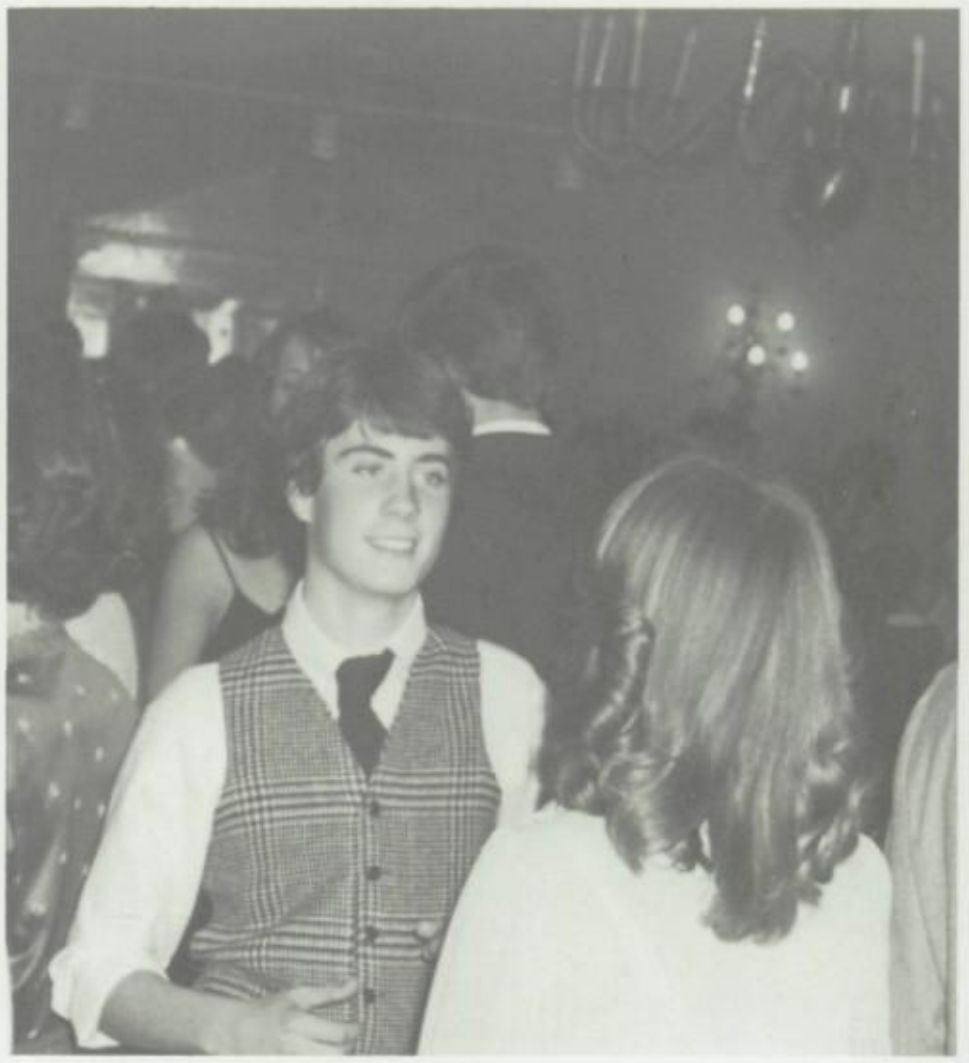
CHRONICLE: General, you have obviously had a great career and are known by many Americans today. How would you like the history books to remember you?

GENERAL: I would like to be remembered as someone who placed three elements into his lifestyle, his aspirations, his efforts, and his performance: Duty, what should be done and the successful pursuit of that; Country. The importance of this great country of ours and this great system which we enjoy, which despite some contemporary injustices, continues.(I've been abroad for so many years that I sense the greatness of this country, having seen the other systems. This is a country with human freedoms, which is a natural legacy for other people.)Lastly, by the belief I have in God.

HOMECOMING

The Fourty-Seventh Annual Homecoming, held this year for the first time at the spacious Philadelphia Sheraton, was the greatest success of any Homcoming in Prep history. Under the carefully-planned organization and direction of Mrs. Barbara Martino, President of the Mothers' Club and President Father Milton Jordan, the annual event attracted more than fifteen hundred students, parents, alumni, and friends. The first Homecoming Holiday Raffle, conceived by Father Jordan, came to fruition on this evening. After months of planning and hard work with a committee of more than fifty mothers, the Prep realized a gross income of over $94,000 and a net profit in excess of $60,000. This was truly a monumental endeavor - a first in Prep history.

The ballroom was aglow with crimson stars, flowers, and lights, which set the gala atmosphere for the awarding of more than $30,000 in prizes throughout the evening. The younger set was entertained by the rock group KIX and the Harry Reynolds Orchestra played for the adult crowd. This was a night for both young and old, former Preppers and graduates-to-be. To further add to everyone's enjoyment of the festivities, a light buffet was served in a room convenient to all attending. This year's Homecoming was truly an event which everyone will remember.



"Dancing is what I do best."

"Do you really think the Prep will go co-ed?"

"The party's over, but we've only just begun."

Three's company.

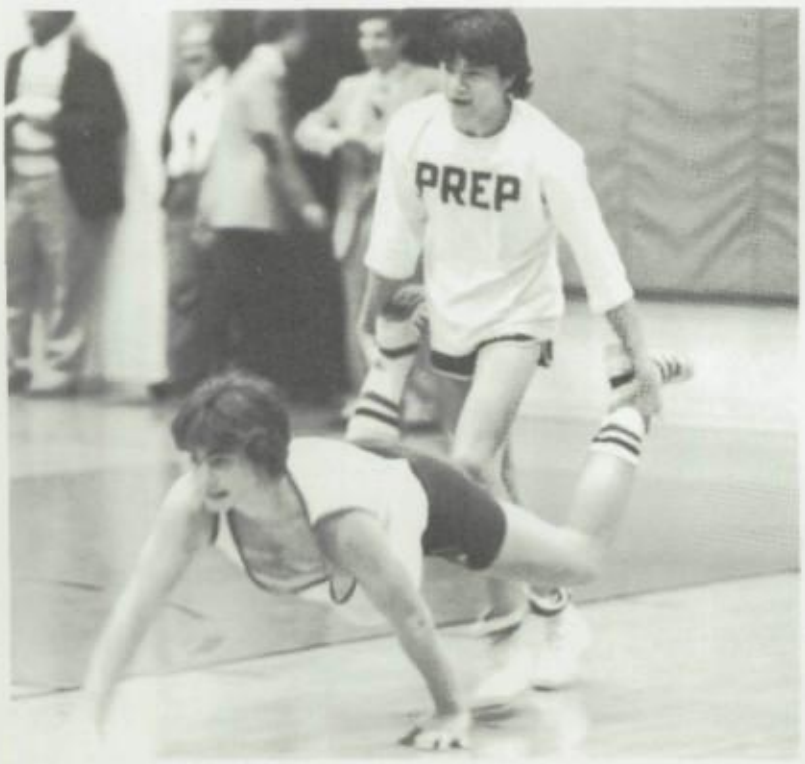
The odd couple.

C'mon honey, speed it up.

ALMOST ANYTHING GOES

Almost Anything Goes is quickly becoming a Prep tradition. Under the direction of Mr. "Moon" Mullen, the event was staged for the second time this year on the final day before the Christmas vacation. This mini-Olympiad pits the Senior and Freshman classes against the Sophomores and Juniors. The action-packed occasion included competitions in both conventional sports such as basketball and tug-of-war and the zany games such as the pie-eating contest, which promoted uproars of laughter from the onlookers. The day of fun certainly puts students in the Christmas spirit each year. Mr. Mullen and the Student Council officers who helped run this event deserve much credit for their efforts to make the Prep much more than an institution of academic learning.

Don't they teach Freshman manners any more?



Look! The roach just went into that hole.

The Seniors pull through again.

"I am about to place my lower body upon this spherical bag of air. According to my calculations, the force wrought upon this object shall have the effect of causing it to burst."

BE NOT AFRAID
-Robert J. Dufford, S.J.

You shall cross the barren dessert,
But you shall not die of thirst.
You shall wander far in safety
Though you do not know the way.
You shall speak your words in foreign lands
And all will understand.
You shall see the face of God and live.

If you pass through raging waters in the sea
You shall not drown.
If you walk amid the burning flames,
You shall not be harmed.
If you stand before the pow'r of hell
And death is at your side,
Know that I am with you through it all.

Blessed are your poor,
For the kingdom shall be theirs.
Blest are you that weep and mourn,
For one day you shall laugh.
And if wicked men insult and hate you
All because of Me,
Blessed, blessed are you!

Be not afraid.
I go before you always.
Come follow Me,
And I will give you rest.
